Curriculum

The undergraduate program is designed to introduce students to the theoretical and empirical literatures of psychology, teach them the skills necessary to advance the science of psychology, and encourage them to apply the principles of psychology to the improvement of human welfare.

The Department of Psychology offers Ph.D. programs in Clinical Psychology, Experimental Psychology, and School Psychology, an MA program in School Psychology and an MS in General Psychology. The department places a strong emphasis on research with the objective of educating both experimentally sophisticated professional psychologists and professionally appreciative research psychologists.
