

Centennial Alumni Reunion Weekend

The University of Memphis celebrates its centennial as 100 decorated tigers adorn the campus. Our beloved university is beckoning thousands of tigers to come home. April 19th-22nd has been designated Centennial Alumni Reunion Weekend, and we are asking alumni of all eras to once again grace the campus to greet old friends, make new ones, and join the celebration.

The Office of Multicultural Affairs is hosting the “Black Alumni Reunion,” a special celebration specifically designed for African American Alumni. This event will take place on Saturday, April 21, 2012. It promises to be a treat with morning activities, a midday carnival, and an evening mixer. This will be a great time for Memphis alumni and their family members to enjoy the activities of the day. The office of Multicultural Affairs wants you to return to your collegiate roots, reminisce about the U.C.’s parties, Black Student Association fashion shows, Greeks steppin’ on the yard, and the entire college experience.

So, return to the campus and admire the progress that it has experienced over the years. Come home, my fellow Tigers, and join the celebration!
