

The University of Memphis Department of Philosophy invites you to an unforgettable performance of Emmy-Award winner Yannis Simonides' presentation of Plato's The Apology of Socrates

Take a seat in the court of ancient Athens as Socrates goes on trial for his life.
Hear the philosopher face his accusers with trademark wit, cutting logic, and the courage of his ideals.

"Spellbinding from the opening scene."
The National Herald

Thursday, April 15, 2010, 10:00 a.m.
Friday, April 16, 2010, 8:30 p.m.

University Center Theater
University of Memphis

Q&A session with Mr. Simonides follows each performance

Tickets

$15 available online only at www.memphis.edu/philosophy.
U of M students admitted free with student ID and ticket reservation. To reserve tickets go to www.memphis.edu/philosophy.

"Restless, humorous, brilliant and fascinating."
Odyssey Magazine

"Mr. Simonides was riveting as Socrates. He demonstrated how engaging and how maddening Socrates could be. ... The students gave him a standing ovation. The faculty delighted... Students and faculty alike enjoyed the satisfaction of intellectual engagement with Plato's text and the issues of justice and truth that it raised."
— Deborah Martinsen,
Columbia University

For more information contact Shannon Neely at sneely1@memphis.edu or 901-678-3358.

This performance is made possible by a Tennessee Board of Regents Access and Diversity Grant and a grant from the American Philosophical Association.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MEMPHIS