Accelerated MPH/Honors undergraduate

Undergraduate students in the Helen Hardin Honors College at the University of Memphis may begin the coursework for the Master of Public Health during their senior year. Students are encouraged to begin planning to enter the Accelerated MPH/undergraduate Honors program early in their undergraduate career, in consultation with the Dean of the Honors College.

Working with the undergraduate and graduate academic coordinators, undergraduates selected into this program begin a carefully tailored course of study which will allow them to complete their undergraduate degree while they also begin the coursework toward their MPH.

To apply, students must have a minimum 3.00 grade point average and apply to the Graduate School for the accelerated (combination senior/MPH program) which allows them to take graduate courses in public health. To continue in the program past the undergraduate program, students must apply for full admission into the Graduate School and into the School of Public Health’s MPH program.

Only in Accelerated Bachelors to Masters programs (ABM), up to 9 hours of graduate coursework may be applied to both the undergraduate and graduate programs. However, any graduate coursework will not apply to undergraduate GPA.
