

ACCOUNTING CAREERS OF TOMORROW

Accounting Careers of Tomorrow (ACT) is a partnership between the Avron B. Fogelman Center for Professional Career Development and CPA firm Reynolds Bone & Griesbeck. ACT is open to undergraduate and graduate students pursuing a major or graduate program in accounting. Join us to make lasting career connections through this program!

Interviewing Skills for the Accounting Profession

Students will take a career assessment to help determine future options and participate in mock interviews with accounting professionals to prepare for upcoming internships and job opportunities.

Career Options in Accounting

A panel of industry professionals from across our city will discuss various career paths in accounting. Students will get to meet and network with RBG executives and other participating employers including International Paper and FedEx.

Meet Employers, Seek Full-Time Opportunities & Explore Internships

Employers will be participating throughout the day, so be sure you have your resume approved and ready to submit electronically for opportunities.
