Guiding Principles

To review our current student support and student life resources and offer recommendations for any needed adjustments.

Identify best practices that our students, faculty and staff can implement to preserve student support and student life.

The Student Support and Student Life team has identified 16 broad recommendations that have been adopted by the Fall Preparedness Steering Committee along with specific guidelines for various types of student events and activities. These recommendations are summarized below and detailed in the following pages.

General Student Success

Increase access to business processes for a remote/hybrid environment.

1. Facilitate regular communication with all students via multiple communication channels.
2. Facilitate a safe and welcoming return to campus.

Academic Support

Special consideration should be given to expansion of alternative credit options and course formats. Priority should be given to courses that are prereqs for courses offered in the spring and/or courses that are only offered in the fall term.

1. Prepare for both remote learning and hybrid instructional models to facilitate a smooth transition if necessary.
2. Pay special attention to the impact that remote and hybrid instruction has on accessibility.
3. Take steps to mitigate any negative impact that the hybrid fall format may have on student progress.
4. Facilitate a smooth transition to the spring term by beginning preparations as soon as possible.
5. Ensure students, faculty and staff have easy access to student support resources.
6. Ensure that all academic support programming is conducted in a safe manner.

Non-Academic Support

Develop Health and Wellness Awareness Campus Campaign to reinforce healthy behaviors and resources and increase accessibility to remote technology resources.

1. Develop a centralized, online repository for student support resources and information on all support programming.
2. Cross-training for student support – online training repository for faculty/staff.
3. Encourage use of reporting systems to connect students with resources/services and ensure effective collaboration for student support.
