

Af/Am Lit. since Harlem Renaissance / English 3326

Spring 2017

On-line

Instructor: Dr. Reginald Martin rmartin@memphis.edu

Phone: 678-4513 Mailbox: PT 441

Office: PT 441 Office Hours: TWR, 4:30-5:30, and by appointment.

Course Description 3326

This course is designed to offer students an entry point into advanced study of African American Literature. While studying texts authored by African American authors, students will be introduced to advanced literary terms, concepts, and techniques for reading, writing, and critically evaluating literature. Students will read, discuss, and write about a variety of traditional and non-traditional texts that represent the diversity of the African American literary endeavor, including the Oral Tradition, non-fiction prose, and dramatic literature.