Collaborative Writing

This class considers collaborative writing as both a subject of study and a practice/method. Students will read and discuss interdisciplinary research about collaborative writing before collaborating with each other to put that research into practice. Students will also learn about collaboration as a method to foster learning and collaborate as a class to write a Scenario Based Assessment. The course has two primary purposes: first, to understand the research on collaboration, primarily in the field of Writing Studies, and second, to help students learn how to use research-engaged reflection to foster stronger collaborations.
