8.25.20.01 Call to Order
President Jeff Marchetta called the virtual meeting to order at 2:40 pm with a quorum present.
8.25.20.02 Approval of Agenda

The agenda was approved as written.

8.25.20.03 Approval of Minutes

Faculty Senate – April 28, 2020

The minutes of the April 28, 2020 Faculty Senate (FS) meeting were approved as written.

8.25.20.04 President’s Report

Service to the Senate & Shared Governance

President Marchetta reported that he has been communicating various administrative decisions to Senators throughout the summer. He added Raaj Kurapati, Executive Vice-President for Business & Finance and Chief Financial Officer, to the agenda to discuss the financial state of the university. He referred Senators to the statement on recognition of service for Faculty Senators: “Senators shall be recognized for their participation in the Senate by being relieved of all departmental committee duties unless they voluntarily decide otherwise. Service in the Faculty Senate shall be acknowledged as University service.” He reminded them that they should be relieved of departmental and college service to allow them to serve on the Senate. He acknowledged that in some smaller departments and units exceptions could be made for essential service duties. He emphasized that most of the work done by the Senate is done in committees. He encouraged Senators to work hard in their committees so that the Senate can properly provide faculty’s voice in university decisions. Administration welcomes input from the FS. He articulated his interpretation of shared governance: 1) faculty are involved in the broader issues of the university and 2) There is adequate transparency in decision-making. Faculty should have a seat at the table. We (the FS) don’t make decisions, but we should be able to provide input before decisions are made. Transparency is important to ensure that everyone has the same data to make decisions.

Rules of Order

President Marchetta yielded to Parliamentarian Mark Sunderman. Parliamentarian Sunderman reviewed the special rules for virtual meetings since all FS meetings are expected to be virtual due to the COVID-19 global pandemic (See Appendix for details). President Marchetta asked Senators to send any potential motions for the FS to the Executive Committee (EC) at least ten days prior to the FS meeting.

Charges to the Standing Committees

President Marchetta shared the standing committee assignments (See Appendix for details). He mentioned that in addition to charges from the EC, committees can charge themselves with any issues within their committee’s scope. He reported that work continues on updating the FS web page to include resources like the committee assignments, the FS charge log, etc.
He reviewed the charges in the Faculty Senate Charge Log AY2020-21 (See Appendix for details). He reminded Senators that we have a new standing committee: budget and finance. It was created because the Faculty Policies Committee has been overloaded with charges.

8.25.20.05 Standing Committee Reports

President Marchetta yielded to Senator Zabi Rezaee, Chair of the Budget and Finance Committee. Senator Rezaee reviewed the committee’s report (See Appendix for details). He reported that the committee has reached consensus on the committee’s duties and responsibilities. He also noted that some of the issues in the Lean Management and Continuous Improvement Strategies section of their report are controversial and there still isn’t a consensus on how to move forward with those initiatives. The Lean Management and Continuous Improvement Strategies section of their report was also part of the university budget task force’s final report. All of these duties, responsibilities, and initiatives will become very important if we move into phase 2 budget reductions. He emphasized that the Lean Management and Continuous Improvement Strategies are guidelines and do not represent decisions already made. He also emphasized that the committee serves an advisory role to administration in the decision-making process. He asked for Senate support for the report.

President Marchetta reminded the Senate that they will be voting to either accept or reject the committee’s report. He called for a vote on accepting the report.

Report is adopted by a vote of 30 for, 5 against, and 3 abstain.

8.25.20.06 Old Business

President Marchetta reported that there is no Old Business.

8.25.20.07 New Business

(M.2020.21.1) Motion to Ratify Faculty Senate Statement – from the Executive Committee

President Marchetta yielded to President-elect Jill Dapremont who spoke to the motion. She described the creation of the ad hoc Anti-racism Committee. The committee was created in response to various movements that intensified over the summer. She read the motion:

Whereas: The University of Memphis Faculty Senate supports work towards racial justice keeping with our vision to prepare students for success in diverse and inclusive environments along with our core values: accountability, collaboration, diversity and inclusion, innovation, service and student success. The Faculty Senate is committed to addressing systemic and institutionalized racism and implicit bias towards African Americans and people of color.
Be it resolved that,
The Faculty Senate Executive Committee will issue the following statement on behalf of the Faculty Senate:

The University of Memphis Faculty Senate supports the University working towards racial justice keeping with our vision to prepare students for success in diverse and inclusive environments along with our core values: accountability, collaboration, diversity and inclusion, innovation, service and student success. The Faculty Senate is committed to addressing systemic and institutionalized racism and implicit bias towards African Americans and people of color.

The nation has witnessed tremendous systemic racism and police brutality towards African Americans and people of color leading to a climate of incredible distress for many Americans, specifically African Americans and people of color.

As University of Memphis President M. David Rudd stated, “We have an identified set of core values that embrace fairness, equity and justice, and we are committed to living those on a daily basis, particularly when they are most needed.”

The Faculty Senate stands in solidarity with African Americans and people of color who are faculty, staff and students speaking up to eliminate systemic racism, police brutality and racial injustices. The Faculty Senate Executive Committee has begun the process of seeking diverse, interested faculty members across the University to serve on a Special Committee on Anti-Racism with a charge to explore issues of systemic racism affecting faculty members and to develop recommendations to the administration for institutional changes.

-Faculty Senate Executive Committee

Motion is adopted by a vote of 32 for, 2 against, and 4 abstain.

(M.2020.21.2) Motion to Ratify Creation of Special Committee on Anti-Racism – from the Executive Committee

President Marchetta yielded to President-elect Dapremont who read the motion:

Whereas: The University of Memphis Faculty Senate supports the University working towards racial justice keeping with our vision to prepare students for success in diverse and inclusive environments along with our core values: accountability, collaboration, diversity and inclusion, innovation, service and student success. The Faculty Senate is committed to addressing systemic and institutionalized racism and implicit bias towards African Americans and people of color.

The nation has witnessed tremendous systemic racism and police brutality towards African Americans and people of color leading to a climate of incredible distress for many Americans, specifically African Americans and people of color.
As University of Memphis President M. David Rudd stated, “We have an identified set of core values that embrace fairness, equity and justice, and we are committed to living those on a daily basis, particularly when they are most needed.”

The Faculty Senate stands in solidarity with African Americans and people of color who are faculty, staff and students speaking up to eliminate systemic racism, police brutality and racial injustices.

Be it resolved that,
The Faculty Senate establishes an Ad-Hoc Special Committee on Anti-Racism with a charge to explore issues of systemic racism affecting faculty members and to develop recommendations to the administration for institutional changes., by the January 2021 Faculty Senate meeting. The composition of the committee will be as follows:

Committee Composition suggestion:
1. Jill Dapremont, Chair
2. Gloria Carr, Ombudsperson
3. Faculty Senator
4. Faculty Senator
5. Faculty Senator
6. Faculty Member At Large
7. Faculty Member At Large
8. Faculty Member At Large

Motion is adopted by a vote of 38 for, none against, and 6 abstain.

(M.2020.21.3) Motion to Adopt Boards for Faculty Senate Discussions and Reserve Distribution List for Outgoing Communications from the Office of the Faculty Senate – from the Executive Committee

President Marchetta yielded to Senator Pat Travis who provided background on the motion. The intent is to eliminate email traffic among Senators and replace it with a discussion board within the eCourseware shell. He read to motion:

Whereas,
The Faculty Senate has a Distribution Email list “Faculty Senators 2020-2021” for communications and has recently established a Discussion Board in an Ecourseware Shell titled ‘Faculty Senate FY21.’

Be it resolved that,
The Faculty Senators agree to exclusively adopt the use of the Discussion Board to informally discuss issues between official Senate meetings and Senate Standing committee meetings and reserve the use of the Distribution Email list for outgoing communications from the Office of the Faculty Senate. Further, all activities occurring with the Discussion Board format are considered unofficial and cannot substitute for the official business that is conducted in Senate meetings and Senate Standing Committee meetings.

Motion is adopted by a vote of 26 for, 9 against, and 4 abstain.

President Marchetta suspended New Business and yielded to the guest speaker, EVP/CFO Raaj Kurapati, who shared his computer screen and spoke to a PowerPoint presentation (See Appendix). He recognized the impacts of the COVID-19 global pandemic on the University’s finances, emphasized various costs, reviewed the actions taken to address those impacts, reviewed student initiatives from both spring and summer related to COVID-19, reviewed financial impacts that we face in FY2021 (we ended the FY2020 budget year with a balanced budget and the overall impact for FY2021 is roughly $40M), reviewed actions that are being employed to respond to the FY2021 budget gap, and reviewed key assumptions for the revised FY2021 budget. He ended the presentation and asked for any questions.

Senator Deanna Owens-Mosby asked: If faculty were awarded grants for travel, are they ceased?
EVP/CFO Kurapati responded: We are considering travel on a case by case basis. The travel restrictions (general out of state travel ban) have not been lifted.
Provost Tom Nenon added: If it’s a grant fund, it’s exempted from being taken back. The money should still be available, but it’s going to be difficult to use.

Senator Mohommed Yeasin asked: Given the hiring freeze are there any increases to faculty loads? Also, what are the relative distributions of overall salary costs across faculty and staff?
Provost Nenon responded: There are no changes/increases in faculty teaching loads due to the budget.
EVP/CFO Kuparati added: There are roughly 2600 full time faculty and staff which breaks down to about 1000 faculty and 1600 staff. He offered to provide specific figures via an email request.

Senator Máté Wierdl asked: What is the composition of the budget reduction committee? Who are they and who chose them? Also, how does that committee function? What’s the role of the Senate?
EVP/CFO Kurapati responded: The composition of the committee was by appointment. The FS appointed to the committee a faculty member, Peter McMickle (Accounting), in addition to President Marchetta. The rest were appointed by others (administration and Staff Senate). There was also student representation. The intent of the appointments was to ensure broad representation while keeping the size of the committee small enough to be effective. The campus community was informed of the committee’s composition.

President Marchetta yielded to Peter McMickle who described the process the committee went through. He reported that they met multiple times per week. They began by understanding the problem. Then they explored opportunities to save money through phase 1, hoping that a phase 2 wouldn’t be needed. The cut in state funding was a significant impact. Faculty on the committee requested that no faculty would be fired as a result. The task force has concluded its work.
Senator Wierdl asked: How likely is it that there will be phase 2 budget reductions? When would that come?
EVP/CFO Kurapati responded: We are doing everything we can to avoid phase 2 budget reductions. Enrollments will be important. State funding is out of our control. The situation is very fluid and hard to predict. We’re focusing on being proactive with enrollments.
Provost Nenon added: He hopes that we can avoid drastic impacts and emphasized that student success is important and something we have some control over. We were able to avoid laying people off. But in doing so, we probably gave up too many tenure-track lines. We need to try to restore as many as we can.

President Marchetta thanked EVP/CFO Kurapati and Provost Nenon for participating in our meeting and answering questions.

Note: At this point in the meeting the remaining motions were offered out of order from the original agenda.

The Research Policies Standing Committee has consulted with the Vice-President of Research and Innovation and is in agreement with the proposed changes.

Be it resolved that,
The Faculty Senate recommends approval of the policy changes to HR5011, RE7003, and RE7006 proposed by Division of Research and Innovation.

Motion is adopted by a vote of 28 for, 0 against, and 1 abstain.
Motion to Recommend Adjustments by Deans and Chairs in Workload Policies and Expectations Due to Challenges of COVID-19 Pandemic – from Senator Berg & the Executive Committee

President Marchetta yielded to Senator Brennan Berg who read the motion:

Whereas: University of Memphis faculty members recognize the need to be strategic with resources considering the multifaceted effects of the coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19). In light of such decisions now having been made in colleges/schools across campus, university leadership has asked faculty and staff to understand the realities of the budget challenges stemming from the pandemic. However, for this university to be fully prepared for the next several years, university leadership needs to understand the realities that faculty will face, particularly towards the attainment and maintenance of R1 status.

Whereas: Some faculty at the University of Memphis, including tenure-line, have been informed that their regular, expected teaching load will increase and graduate assistant (GA) support will be reduced or eliminated. Understandably, with no GA to support the administration of courses, faculty efforts toward teaching will increase considerably. As a result, those who traditionally take on multiple research projects and significant service commitments (in addition to teaching) may need to shift their focus and/or resources to sustain priorities and balance these with an increased teaching load. Faculty have also reported challenges of longer wait times for publication decisions, reduced access to organizations struggling in the pandemic economy, external funding sources no longer offering grants, and trying to produce research while working from home and keeping care of dependents. All these challenges can have significant implications for how faculty are evaluated annually and for those working toward promotion, whether it is from assistant to associate or associate to full professor. Indications to faculty are that many of the necessary changes that have been made will last for more than a year. Thus, it would be unfair to evaluate faculty whether annually or for promotion without acknowledging all these realities or require faculty to wait multiple years before going up for promotion.

Be it resolved that,
The Faculty Senate strongly recommends that the university administration recognize the challenges faculty will encounter and strive to return faculty workloads and support back to pre-pandemic levels as soon as possible. Until such a time, annual evaluations of faculty and decisions for promotion should heavily weigh the adjusted workloads and support of faculty stemming from the pandemic. Faculty should not be negatively affected by unexpected workload demands in their annual evaluations or efforts to be awarded promotion nor should such career advancement be delayed for multiple years as the university recovers from the pandemic.

Motion is adopted by a vote of 27 for, 0 against, and 1 abstain.

8.25.20.07   Adjourn

The meeting adjourned at 5:11pm.

1. Introduction

The social distancing feature of the COVID-19 pandemic demands universities and colleges worldwide to transform their programs and courses to virtual and online classes in the foreseeable future. The COVID-19 pandemic has also caused many financial challenges for universities and colleges because of potential decrease in students’ enrollment and government financial supports. The CARES Act provides some financial assistance by allocating $32 billion to support all levels of education whereas $7 billion of the funds are allocated toward student aid. Each university and college should establish a steering committee to address education challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic and design strategic plans for possible return to campus in the Fall of 2020 and onwards. The committee should consider guidelines provided at local, state, and federal levels to ensure a safe environment for students, staff, and faculty, maintain the education quality, and secure sustainability and financial health of the university.

At the University of Memphis, the administrators and the entire management team are facing significant challenges brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic. Among these challenges are protecting the students and the employees in terms of safety and health, changing the work environment to enable remote working, performing human capital risk assessment, dealing with supply chain disruption, and modifying the financial budget to provide adequate cash and liquidity. These challenges provide opportunities for universities to maintain continuity, sustainability and efficient transformation of their education, business, financial, and operational functions. The University of Memphis has responded to the challenges brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic by appointing a Budget Reduction Taskforce on July 7, 2020. The Budget Taskforce has made several recommendations/strategies for the following two phases:

1. Phase I - Recommendations/strategies to address the immediate known shortfall of $17M.
2. Phase II - Recommendations/strategies to address any additional budget shortfalls because of a drop in enrollments and/or additional financial impacts given the ongoing difficulties related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The effective implementation of these two phases require a comprehensive and coordinated approach by the central administration and all colleges, schools, and departments in consultation with the faculty senate in assessing and managing their activities. The lean management and continuous improvement strategies (LMCIS) provide a blueprint for and effective and guided execution of this complex task.

In accounting and management literature, both professional and academic, there has been widespread acceptance of a concept known as lean management. The following paragraphs provide insight into the basic features of the lean management concept and how they are applicable to institutions of higher learning as they make necessary adjustments in response to the unusually difficult circumstances brought on by the COVID-19 virus. It should be noted that the most recent report from the University’s Budget Task Force included plans to conduct Operational Auditing using LMCIS.
II. Lean Management

The concept of lean management is very relevant in the post-COVID era and applicable to the implementation of phases I and II. There are three guiding principles of the lean management as related to universities: (1) the main objective is to deliver high quality education in teaching, research and service; (2) focus on continuous improvement of identifying strengths and concerns and finding ways to consciously improving the education process; and (3) eliminate waste and duplication by optimizing the use of resources. The lean management concept promotes the link between cost management (cost centers) and performance management (revenue centers) as they are affected by managerial strategy in response to the COVID-19 challenges. Two managerial concepts of cost management relevant to the cost centers and performance management relevant to revenue centers are interdependent and should be integrated in achieving lean management and operational objectives and effectiveness. Cost management addresses the budget cuts of phases I and II in the context of lean management, whereas performance management focuses on continuous improvement in achieving sustainable high-quality education and generating revenues.

III. Continuous Improvement

Continuous improvement strategies involve classifying university activities into four categories: value-adding, non-value adding, essential and nonessential, and have traditionally been used by business organizations (Rezaee, Agrawal and Pak, 2006). The focus on continuous improvement has become more crucial in the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic. The university and its finance function and the CFO in consultation with the faculty senate are in a unique position to work with administration and colleges, schools and departments in assessing what activities to stop, what activities to prioritize and what activities to emphasize. In the post-COVID environment with advanced technological innovation, continuous improvement becomes crucial in gaining a competitive advantage and maintaining sustainability. Continuous improvement can enable the university to cope with challenges brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic and effectively implement recommendations of the Budget Taskforce in phases I and II. University activities are classified into four categories as depicted in Figure 1:

A. Value-Adding and Essential - These activities add value to the university’s main purpose and mission of offering high-quality education and are essential in maintaining the continuity and sustainability. These activities such as teaching, and research are adding value and any disruption can have detrimental effects on sustainability. Examples of these activities are productive undergraduate, graduate and PhD programs with effective teaching, productive research and meaningful services. All academic programs that are cost-effective and efficient are considered value-adding and essential.

B. Value-Adding but Non-Essential

   These are activities that are considered as value-adding but may be minimized without losing the value-added feature through re-engineering and restructuring. Colleges, schools and departments should consider optimizing these activities in the post-COVID-19 pandemic and in the light of the current budget cuts. Example of these activities are excessive administrative and staff activities and related compensation.
C. Non-Value-Adding but Essential

These are activities do not add value but are essential. Example of these activities are administrative and staff activities including physical plans. However, activities such as middle-level managerial positions (e.g., associate deans, directors, unnecessary staff) should be minimized, especially in the post-COVID-19 era.

D. Non-Value-Adding and Non-Essential

These are activities typically excluding academic programs that neither add value nor considered essential and thus must be eliminated in the post-COVID-19 era to ensure continuity and sustainability. Example of these activities are unnecessary administrative, staff and instructor positions. At the present time the Senate Budget Committee is unaware of any University of Memphis programs that should be judged to be “Non-Value-Adding and Non-Essential”.

Iv. Conclusion

Colleges and universities have developed a multi-phase plans for reopening their campus with different timeframes for implementing these phases with the final phase aiming at allowing students, staff, and faculty return to campus eventually. Some classes can continue to be online and conducted virtually. The business recovery, sustainability and transformation are essential strategic planning for coping with growing challenges caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. The central administration in collaboration with colleges and faculty senate should consider all possibilities and scenarios under which the university can survive, recover and continue sustainable performance in offering high-quality education.

The Business and Finance Committee of the Faculty Senate, in fulfillment of its current charge, as specified by the Executive Committee of Faculty Senate, is planning to:
“1. Work with the administration to quantify and carefully assess non-productive activities and services for potential permanent budget reductions beginning FY22.

2. Review unit budget proposals for potential permanent budget reductions beginning FY22.”

3. Design a plan of action to evaluate and recommend implementation guidelines for potential budget cuts.

We are available to meet with the central administration, colleges, schools, departments, and other units to discuss the relevance of LMCIS in implementing recommendations of the Budget Cut Taskforce in phases I and II and ensuring continuity and sustainability of our education programs. Please do not hesitate to reach out to the Faculty Senate and its Business and Finance Committee for assistance, consultation, and recommendation.

Continuous Improvement Model in the Aftermath of the COVID-19 Pandemic

Impacts of COVID-19 on UofM’s Finances

FY2020:

With the rapid onset of COVID-19 and our decision to go remote in March after the Shelter at Home orders were issued by Shelby County and the State the financial impacts on the University finances were significant ($27M budget impact). The result of:

1. Revenue losses on many fronts (Dining, Events, Holiday Inn, Athletics, etc.)
2. Need for refunding various fees (Dining, Housing, Parking, etc.)
3. Grants, fee refunds and other direct aid to students
4. Expenditures to keep personnel and campus operations going
5. Costs to respond to COVID-19 (PPE, Technology, Tests, etc.)

Actions taken to address FY20 Finances

1. Discontinued all faculty, staff and student travel through the end of Fiscal Year
2. Instituted a hiring moratorium and managed vacancies and attrition to realize costs savings, given personnel costs account for 70% of our budget
3. Adjusted campus operations to realize savings given limited use of facilities, including strategic management of energy usage
4. Centralized procurement activities to ensure expenditures were limited to needs vs. wants, again to maximize cost savings and minimize expenditures
5. Managed operational expenses including deferral of projects not deemed critical
6. Reduced operating costs to address expenditure impacts
7. Strategically moved additional cash flow flexibility into investments to maximize earnings, resulting in the highest level of investment earnings in the University’s history at approximately $8.8M
Actions taken to address FY20 Finances

8. Effected a strategic pullback to capture savings and related budgets net of costs centrally to offset related outlays (see cost savings actions in prior slide)
9. Worked with Holiday Inn management to reduce costs and offset ongoing shortfalls wherever possible through a PPP forgivable loan to minimize losses
10. Leaned strategically into the federal support provided under the CARES Act
   - Processed over $4.08M in student refunds for parking, housing and dining
   - $7.8M in direct student payments from HEERF CARES Act funding
11. Minimized losses on the food services front through a strategic partnership with the Shelby County Schools & YMCA to provide meals for school children and community members displaced by the pandemic. This partnership resulted in over a million meals being served over the course of just a few months.
12. Leveraged Summer School initiatives to increase revenues

Effectively managed a budget gap of over $27M created by impacts of COVID-19

Student COVID-19 Initiatives – Spring/Summer 2020

The financial challenges our students face was clearly evident during this pandemic with many having to choose between helping families and continuing their education. We recognize the financial challenges created by COVID-19 and implemented numerous refunds and cost-reduction measures to promote affordability and ensure student success.

Spring 2020
1. Processed $4.08M in student refunds for parking, housing, and dining
2. Disbursed $7.8M in direct CARES payments to over 12,283 students
3. Continued to pay student/hourly GA employees due to related work restrictions

Summer 2020
1. Provided grants to cover the $50 UofM online fee for a savings of $300 for 6 credits
2. Expanded the 3+3 program for all freshmen and sophomores
3. Provided $500 grant for juniors and seniors who enroll in two classes
4. Summer enrollment growth of 20.3% (including Law)

Impacts of COVID-19 on UofM’s Finances

FY2021:

Needless to say as we continue to grapple with this pandemic, we continue to manage related financial impacts. While we were able to end FY2020 (Year ended June 30, 2020) on a balanced budget, a larger budget gap for FY2021 of roughly $40M loomed. The result of:

1. Reduced support from the State for capital maintenance ($9.5M) and no new support in Formula Funding ($6.3M).
2. Continued revenue losses on many fronts (Dining, Housing, Events, Holiday Inn, Athletics, etc.)
3. Need to provide prorated refunds of certain fees (Dining)
4. Grants, fee refunds and other direct aid to students
5. Costs incurred to respond to COVID-19 (PPE, Technology, Tests, etc.)
Actions employed to respond to FY21 Gap

1. Captured one-time savings to offset some of the budget gap in the coming fiscal year
2. Established a Budget Reduction Committee with campus-wide representation (implementing strategies/recommendations offered)
3. Continue to identify opportunities to reorganize operations and consolidate offices to realize cost savings
4. University-wide reductions
5. Strategic reinvestments
6. Fall scholarship/grant initiatives
7. Strategic use of federal support provided under the CARES Act
8. Granted TN COVID-19 Relief funds of $1.6M

Student COVID-19 Initiatives – Fall 2020

1. Grants to eliminate the online course fees
2. Waiver of late registration fees
3. Extension of late registration period to August 26
4. Review of the traditional approach of dropping for non-payment
5. 100% refund of the payment plan fee if sign-up occurs by August 14
6. Prorated reduction of TigerEat$ fee from $300 to $220 (to coincide with delayed start of traditional on-ground offerings)
7. Establishing a COVID-19 need-based scholarship and loan program

Key Assumptions for Revised FY21 Budget

Revenues/Sources:

1. Reversed anticipated increase in State Appropriations (original Budget from the State)
2. Reduced revenue for drop in Foundation operations support
3. No revenue increases from tuition and fees (deferred FY21 tuition and fee increase (1.8%) planned to backfill expenditure commitments, e.g. online fees)
4. Reduced revenue projections of key fee and sales-driven enterprises, e.g. Athletics
Key Assumptions for Revised FY21 Budget

Expenses:

1. Reversed distribution of anticipated State Appropriations from all units

2. Backfilled ongoing base commitments with a base budget pull-back of $7M
   - Scholarships
   - Faculty promotions (related salary and benefits cost increases)
   - Advancement and Alumni Operations (from reduction in Foundation Support)
   - Dual enrollment support & UofM Global support (ongoing costs to support programming)
   - Culinary School (program launch delayed due to impacts of COVID-19)
   - Student recruiters (funded with one-time funds in prior year)
   - Ongoing technology needs (Cayuse, Chrome River, etc.)
   - Center for Communications and Writing (funded with one-time funds in prior year)

Expenses, continued:

3. Backfilled one-time costs strategic to maintaining institutional trajectory and growth.
   Sources of these investments include strategic central reserves and use of central and distributed (instituted a pullback) carryforward balances.
   - COVID-19 specific institutional aid [strategic investments to retain and graduate students]
   - Support to Athletics to offset revenue losses (coupled with deep cost reductions)
   - Research support and Carnegie R1 investments
   - Law scholarships
   - FIT technology plan
   - Online fee grants (fee reduced but offsetting tuition and fee increase deferred)
