BUSINESS ECONOMICS MAJOR

Financial Economics concentration

WHAT YOU CAN DO WITH IT

- Financial Economics is for students who are interested in the interface between finance and economics. It applies economic theory and empirical tools to study financial markets.
- Financial economics prepares students for positions requiring a broad, general knowledge of the business environment and economic theory, as well as specialized knowledge in finance.
- Financial economics is also great preparation for law school and graduate study in public policy, journalism, and foreign affairs, as well as graduate study in economics and finance.
- Like economics in general, financial economics teaches skills and problem-solving techniques that employers value.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

- Financial economics addresses fundamental issues such as asset pricing, saving behavior, banking, corporate structure, financial regulation, and the interaction of the financial markets with the rest of the economy. This training is both broad and deep and allows majors to find careers in corporate finance, financial analysis, insurance, real estate, investment banking, and banking, as well as in government regulatory agencies.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND INTERNSHIPS

Many scholarship opportunities are available for qualified business students majoring in economics. Internships are available with a variety of businesses or with local or state governments and agencies. A maximum of 3 credit hours of internship may be used in the major.

Prerequisites

Effective catalog: 2019

Total Hours: 120-122

Total hours required for graduation: 120

1General Education Requirements

2Electives can be any lower or upper division course offered by the University. Any course specific prerequisites must be met. Student may apply no more than two semester hours of physical activity courses to the minimum degree requirements of 120 hours

3Student must select one of the following: ACCT 4625; ECON 4350, 4351; FIR 4550; MIS 4310, 4321; MGMT 4510, 4810; MKTG 4530. Course will satisfy both the Major Elective Requirement and the International Business Requirement in the Upper Division Core if selected course is within the student’s designated major. If the student uses this course for both the International Business Requirement in the UD Core and a major elective, the student may need an additional 3 hour elective to meet the minimum 120 hours for graduation.
