

BUSINESS INFORMATION AND TECHNOLOGY (formerly MIS)

WHAT YOU CAN DO WITH IT

- BIT focuses on utilizing technology to improve business decision making and effectiveness.
- There is no "cookie cutter" BIT major. Tech and gadget enthusiasts, problem solvers, organizers, extroverts, introverts, realists, thinkers, artists and dreamers all have the potential to thrive in BIT.
- The content areas include business information assurance, business intelligence and analytics, project management, systems testing, database management, cybersecurity, and more.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

- Forbes Career Report (2016) placed BIT among the Top 10 best degrees! BIT degree holders surveyed enjoy 70% job satisfaction, 68% job meaningfulness, and 18% annual growth in job opportunities.
- Job categories include systems analysis and design, programming, database administration, network administration, web site design and development, and consulting.
- Companies as diverse as FedEx, International Paper, Autozone, Raymond James, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Sedgwick, Hilton Worldwide, and more have BIT-related needs and are hiring in Memphis and across the nation.
- Computing career opportunities are expected to make up 71% of new science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM jobs) through 2018.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND INTERNSHIPS

BIT students are highly sought after by Memphis-area businesses for paid internships which also carry course credit toward the degree. A variety of scholarships are available to qualified students majoring in BIT. A maximum of 3 credit hours of internship may be used in the major.

AMIS STUDENT ORGANIZATION

The area maintains an active student chapter of the Association for Management Information Systems. Contact Dr. Margaret Schultz, mschultz@memphis.edu or Dr. Brian Janz, bdjanz@memphis.edu, for membership information.
