COURSE REQUIREMENTS

CATALOGUE/COURSE DESCRIPTION:

3120 teaches how to gather news using basic journalistic tools and techniques. Writing assignments will take place inside and outside the classroom.

PREREQUISITE:

Media Writing, Journalism 2121

REQUIRED MATERIALS:

- Briggs, Mark Journalism Next: A Practical Guide to Digital Reporting and Publishing (CQ Press, 2013) Second Edition
- The Associated Press Stylebook and Briefing on Media Law, (New York: Basic Books, 2009). Students should have this from Media Writing. No need to buy an updated version.
- Kessler, Lauren and McDonald Duncan When Words Collide: A Media Writer's Guide to Grammar and Style (Thomson-Wadsworth, 2001). Students may have this from Media Writing. No need to buy an updated version.
- A smart phone and regular access to a laptop or a desktop computer. Students cannot rely on using university computer labs. Journalists today need to be in constant contact with the internet.
- A digital camera or some device that allows students to take digital photographs. A device that allows students to digitally record sound is also needed. Note: Video cameras are available for check out in the journalism office, 300 Meeman.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

- Assignments will be completed both in and outside the classroom, so attendance and participation are vital. Class time is also valuable for discussion about news and upcoming assignments, so please be on time.
- Here's how attendance works: I'm not interested in hearing excuses. You get three free passes during the semester. After you cash in the passes, missed classes are reflected in your final grade. In other words, if you earn an A for your final grade, but you missed four classes, your final grade drops to an A-. If you miss five classes, your grade drops to a B. If you miss six classes, your grade drops to a B-. If you miss seven classes, your grade drops to a C, and so forth.

- If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find out from a classmate what is due. Do not count on me to answer a message about missed work.
- Quizzes may be given on the assigned readings from the textbook and online. You cannot make up quizzes, but there will be a bonus opportunity at the end of the semester.
- At the start of the semester, you will select a beat. The beat will shape your news blog. Most of your assignments will be posted to your beat blogs. Think about your beat carefully and be sure you are genuinely interested in the subject. Also narrow your beat as much as possible. The more specific you are, the easier it will be to develop story ideas and to attract followers to your blog.
- You must stay informed about the news and about newsmakers. It is impossible to be a good reporter unless you are informed about local, national and international news.
- All assignments must be filed to the ecourseware drop box by midnight on the day they are due. Late assignments will NOT be accepted. It is extremely important that you recognize the importance of deadlines in news and learn to file assignments on time. You will have an opportunity to make up one missed assignment with an additional extra credit assignment.
- All assignments must be written in third person in a structure that conforms to standard media writing guidelines. Assignments also will be graded on content, grammar, punctuation and AP style.
- Additionally, all assignments must conform to these specifications: All stories must be double-spaced with indented paragraphs and filed in a word document that is identified with a date and a byline. If assignments don't meet these specifications, they will not be graded.

The tentative assignments and due dates are:

- 1 – Setting up a beat blog. Due: Jan. 29
- 2 – Developing story ideas and sources. Due: Feb. 5
- 3 – Multi-source story with photos based on news event. Due: Feb. 14

PROFESSIONAL VALUES AND COMPETENCIES FOR JOURNALISM PROGRAM:

The Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communication requires that, irrespective of their particular specialization, all graduates should be aware of certain core values and competencies and be to

- understand and apply the principles and laws of freedom of speech and press, for the country in which the institution that invites ACEJMC is located, as well as receive instruction in and understand the range of systems of freedom of expression around the world, including the right to dissent, to monitor and criticize power, and to assemble and petition for redress of grievances;
- demonstrate an understanding of the history and role of professionals and institutions in shaping communications;
- demonstrate an understanding of gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation and, as appropriate, other forms of diversity in domestic society in relation to mass Communications;

- demonstrate an understanding of the diversity of peoples and cultures and of the significance and impact of mass communications in a global society.
- understand concepts and apply theories in the use and presentation of images and information;
- demonstrate an understanding of professional ethical principles and work ethically in pursuit of truth, accuracy, fairness and diversity;
- think critically, creatively and independently;
- conduct research and evaluate information by methods appropriate to the communications professions in which they work;
- write correctly and clearly in forms and styles appropriate for the communications professions, audiences and purposes they serve;
- evaluate critically their own work and that of others for accuracy and fairness, clarity, appropriate style and grammatical correctness;
- apply basic numerical and statistical concepts;
- apply tools and technologies appropriate for the communications professions in which they work.

ASSESSMENT OF STUDENT LEARNING FOR JOURNALISM PROGRAM:

The Council seeks to promote student learning and encourages experimentation and innovation. Assessment is a system of evaluation of student learning at the course or unit level (as opposed to grading at the individual level). Three criteria should guide assessment of student learning:

- Awareness: familiarity with specific information, including facts, concepts, theories, laws and regulations, processes and effects.
- Understanding: assimilation and comprehension of information, concepts, theories and ideas.
- Application: competence in relating and applying skills, information, concepts, theories and ideas to the accomplishment of tasks.

DEPARTMENT POLICIES

EMAIL:

You must have your UM email account activated. If you are using another provider such as Google, you are required to have your UM email forwarded to that account. Go to the <http://iam.memphis.edu> website to implement forwarding of UM email. You are required to check your email daily. You are responsible for complying with any email sent to you by your professor or the University.

CELLPHONES:

You must turn them off during class.

ATTENDANCE:

Class attendance is mandatory in the Department of Journalism. You may be assigned a failing grade for the semester for nonattendance, or habitual late arrival. No late work will be accepted without prior arrangements, which are acceptable to your professor. Students may not be permitted to make up any missing work unless it is for an absence due to illness or other catastrophic emergency such as a death in the family that can be documented (e.g. with a doctor's note or a copy of the newspaper obituary). This is a professional program for journalists who are expected to understand and comply with deadlines. If you have some problem making it to class on time make arrangements to fix the problem or consider taking another class. You should consider this class your "job" in the educational process and be on time just as you would elsewhere.

CHEATING:

In addition to university-wide policies stated in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, the Department of Journalism considers making up quotes from sources, turning in substantially the same assignment for credit in two different courses, or a student receiving any assistance from others for work assigned to be done on his/her own, as acts of cheating punishable to the degree determined appropriate by the course instructor and department chair. That may include grade reductions or seeking dismissal of the student from the university. "Your written work may be submitted to Turnitin.com, or a similar electronic detection method, for an evaluation of the originality of your ideas and proper use and attribution of sources. As part of this process, you may be required to submit electronic as well as hard copies of your written work, or be given other instructions to follow. By taking this course, you agree that all assignments may undergo this review process and that the assignment may be included as a source document in Turnitin.com's restricted access database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism in such documents. Any assignment not submitted according to the procedures given by the instructor may be penalized or may not be accepted at all." (Office of Legal Counsel, October 17, 2005)

SETEs:

You are urged to complete the SETEs evaluation of this course. Once your instructor has posted your grade, you can immediately see that grade, provided you completed a teacher evaluation for that class. How to access your evaluation forms: Log in using your UUID and email password; click on the gray "Student" tab; complete an evaluation for each course listed and hit the "Submit" button at the bottom of the form. It will only take a few minutes of your time. We take the evaluations very seriously and use them to improve courses and instructional quality. Your feedback is essential and will be appreciated.

DISABILITY:

Any student who feels s/he may need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact the Office for Disability Services at (901) 678-2880 in 110 Wilder Tower Hall to coordinate reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities.

EXIT EXAM FOR ALL JOURNALISM MAJORS:

All Journalism majors are required to take the Journalism Exit Exam their last semester before graduation. Please contact the Journalism office staff anytime during the semester to sign up. You may take the test anytime there are open lab hours during the semester. You will not be certified to graduate until you have completed the test.
