COURSE SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS

CATALOGUE/COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Recent research findings in news reporting, writing and editing principles; practical experience in preparing finished news reports suitable for publication or dissemination in professional-level mass medium.

PREREQUISITE:

None

REQUIRED MATERIALS:

- Mark Briggs, Journalism Next: A Practical Guide to Digital Reporting and Publishing 2nd edition (Los Angeles: Sage/CQ Press, 2013). ISBN: 978-1-4522-2785-6

CLASSROOM FORMAT:

All students will actively plan and produce polished publishable work. Assignments will be distributed in class in consultation with other students and the instructor.

COURSE OBJECTIVE

- This course will function like a professional newsroom, which means you help decide what we do and when we do it. We'll take a big story, topic, or issue and tackle it from all sorts of angles, using different media, different approaches, different formats.
- What you will produce will not only go into your portfolios but will likely appear in some form on a Web site—either the class's, the department's, or a media partner's. In other words, this is for real.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

All students will actively plan and produce polished, publishable work. Assignments will be distributed in class in consultation with other students and the instructor.

1. Project [40%]

Each of you will direct a news project, for which you are the primary writer as well as the manager. In addition to writing a substantive news or feature piece of 1500 words (7 pages), you will need to coordinate the efforts of classmates. They can provide supplementary stories, images, maps, databases, Web maintenance, and so on. You decide what they do. Everyone must have something to do and to contribute.

You will be graded on the quality of writing and reporting you do for your main piece. You will also receive a grade for the job you do supervising others.

2. Assignments [40%]

You will assist your teammates with the projects that they are directing. You will be graded for any work you do. Project managers will also evaluate your work.

3. Attendance, participation, publication [20%]

You are expected to conduct yourself with professionalism:

- reliability
- honesty
- quality work
- productivity
- resourcefulness

- write correctly and clearly in forms and styles appropriate for the communications professions, audiences and purposes they serve;
- critically evaluate their own work and that of others for accuracy and fairness, clarity, appropriate style and grammatical correctness;
- apply basic numerical and statistical concepts;
- apply tools and technologies appropriate for the communications professions in which they work.

ASSESSMENT OF STUDENT LEARNING FOR JOURNALISM PROGRAM:

The Council seeks to promote student learning and encourages experimentation and innovation. Assessment is a system of evaluation of student learning at the course or unit level (as opposed to grading at the individual level). Three criteria should guide assessment of student learning:

- Awareness: familiarity with specific information, including facts, concepts, theories, laws and regulations, processes and effects.
- Understanding: assimilation and comprehension of information, concepts, theories and ideas.
- Application: competence in relating and applying skills, information, concepts, theories and ideas to the accomplishment of tasks.

DEPARTMENT POLICIES

EMAIL:

You must have your UM email account activated. If you are using another provider such as Google, you are required to have your UM email forwarded to that account. Go to the <http://iam.memphis.edu> website to implement forwarding of UM email. You are required to check your email daily. You are responsible for complying with any email sent to you by your professor or the University.

CELLPHONES:

You must turn them off during class.

ATTENDANCE:

Class attendance is mandatory in the Department of Journalism. You may be assigned a failing grade for the semester for nonattendance, or habitual late arrival. No late work will be accepted without prior arrangements, which are acceptable to your professor. Students may not be permitted to make up any missing work unless it is for an absence due to illness or other catastrophic emergency such as a death in the family that can be documented (e.g. with a doctor's note or a copy of the newspaper obituary). This is a professional program for journalists who are expected to understand and comply with deadlines. If you have some problem making it to class on time make arrangements to fix the problem or consider taking another class. You should consider this class your "job" in the educational process and be on time just as you would elsewhere.

CHEATING:

In addition to university-wide policies stated in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, the Department of Journalism considers making up quotes from sources, turning in substantially the same assignment for credit in two different courses, or a student receiving any assistance from others for work assigned to be done on his/her own, as acts of cheating punishable to the degree determined appropriate by the course instructor and department chair. That may include grade reductions or seeking dismissal of the student from the university.

"Your written work may be submitted to Turnitin.com, or a similar electronic detection method, for an evaluation of the originality of your ideas and proper use and attribution of sources. As part of this process, you may be required to submit electronic as well as hard copies of your written work, or be given other instructions to follow. By taking this course, you agree that all assignments may undergo this review process and that the assignment may be included as a source document in Turnitin.com's restricted access database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism in such documents. Any assignment not submitted according to the procedures given by the instructor may be penalized or may not be accepted at all." (Office of Legal Counsel, October 17, 2005)

ONLINE SETEs:

You are urged to complete the SETEs evaluation of this Once your instructor has posted your grade, you can immediately see that grade, provided you completed a teacher evaluation for that class. How to access your evaluation forms: Log in using your UUID and email password; click on the gray "Student" tab; complete an evaluation for each course listed and hit the "Submit" button at the bottom of the form. It will only take a few minutes of your time. We take the evaluations very seriously and use them to improve courses and instructional quality. Your feedback is essential and will be appreciated.

DISABILITY:

Any student who feels s/he may need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact the Office for Disability Services at (901) 678-2880 in 110 Wilder Tower Hall to coordinate reasonable accommodations for students with documented disabilities.
