GRADING:

- |                       |              |
|-----------------------|--------------|
| • Writing assignments | 1,500 points |
| • Quizzes and tests   | 250 points   |
| • Discussion board    | 250 points   |

Course work will be accomplished every week. There will be writing assignments, quizzes, tests and discussion board participation. Each must be completed by its due date and time (Central Standard Time), which varies by assignment, quiz, test and discussion board. Check each due time to ensure that you complete and submit material by the deadline.

The tests will consist of true/false and multiple-choice questions, which will contain one or more units of study. Tests will be limited as to time. The computer will cut you off at the end of the prescribed time period, regardless of whether you have completed all questions. You may use your text to confirm an answer, but be aware that time limits will not allow you to spend much time flipping through the text. You should read and be familiar with each section before taking its test.

These assignments and discussions must be submitted per instructions; no credit will be given outside of the proper submission guidelines.

Your success in this online course will depend on your willingness to read the textual and supplemental learning materials, successfully complete tests and written assignments, and participate in discussion activities, as scheduled.

You are required to ask via e-mail or call me with your questions as to the proper completion of the assignment. It is your responsibility to ensure clarification of instructions.

Written assignments will be graded on the basis of AP style, grammar, spelling and punctuation, as well as content.

See Timetable document for grading criteria, point values and due dates.

SUBMITTING FORMAT OF WRITTEN WORK:

All assignments must be uploaded to the course Dropbox. (Discussion Board topics can be written directly in the Discussion Board interface.) In this class, most assignments will be produced for a client. The professor serves not just as the instructor, but also as the supervisor/director of the project.

LATE WORK:

The instructor will accept only one late written assignment from the student, and the instructor must be notified that the assignment will be late before the deadline. Notifications that are received after the deadline will not be honored, and the project will be graded as a 0. Late assignments (with proper notification) automatically lose 10 points and must be submitted within seven days of the original deadline. The tests, quizzes and final writing assignment must be completed on time and will not be accepted after the deadline.

TIMETABLE:

See Timetable document.

DEPARTMENT POLICIES

EMAIL:

You must have your UM email account activated. If you are using another provider such as Google, you are required to have your UM email forwarded to that account. Go to the <http://iam.memphis.edu> website to implement forwarding of UM email. You are required to check your email daily. You are responsible for complying with any email sent to you by your professor or the University.

CELLPHONES:

You must turn them off during class.

ATTENDANCE:

Class attendance is mandatory in the Department of Journalism. You may be assigned a failing grade for the semester for nonattendance, or habitual late arrival. No late work will be accepted without prior arrangements, which are acceptable to your professor. Students may not be permitted to make up any missing work unless it is for an absence due to illness or other catastrophic emergency such as a death in the family that can be documented (e.g. with a doctor's note or a copy of the newspaper obituary). This is a professional program for journalists who are expected to understand and comply with deadlines. If you have some problem making it to class on time make arrangements to fix the problem or consider taking another class. You should consider this class your "job" in the educational process and be on time just as you would elsewhere.

CHEATING:

In addition to university-wide policies stated in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities, the Department of Journalism considers making up quotes from sources, turning in substantially the same assignment for credit in two different courses, or a student receiving any assistance from others for work assigned to be done on his/her own, as acts of cheating punishable to the degree determined appropriate by the course instructor and department chair. That may include grade reductions or seeking dismissal of the student from the university.

"Your written work may be submitted to Turnitin.com, or a similar electronic detection method, for an evaluation of the originality of your ideas and proper use and attribution of sources. As part of this process, you may be required to submit electronic as well as hard copies of your written work, or be given other instructions to follow. By taking this course, you agree that all assignments may undergo this review process and that the assignment may be included as a source document in Turnitin.com's restricted access database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism in such documents. Any assignment not submitted according to the procedures given by the instructor may be penalized or may not be accepted at all." (Office of Legal Counsel, October 17, 2005)

ONLINE SETEs:

You are urged to complete the SETEs evaluation of this course. How to access your evaluation forms: Log in using your UUID and email password; click on the gray “Student” tab; complete an evaluation for each course listed and hit the “Submit” button at the bottom of the form. It will only take a few minutes of your time. We take the evaluations very seriously and use them to improve courses and instructional quality. Your feedback is essential and will be appreciated.
