COMMUNITY LAW OFFICE EXTERNSHIPS

Advocates for Immigrant Rights

Advocates for Immigrant Rights (AIR) is a non-profit law firm focused on providing direct legal representation for immigrants. Our mission is to fight for the dignity, safety, and inclusion of immigrants in the United States, especially those most marginalized, through legal representation and advocacy. We fight for the rights of immigrants but also for the expansion of those rights to ensure that all people are equally protected by the laws of the United States. AIR seeks to create structural and systemic change by coordinating with other legal service providers and community-based organizations to complement our skills and build our mutual capacity. Our service model inherently provides for relationships that will propel our work and the work of our partners.

AIR is primarily focused on removal defense in the South, making special considerations for people who are LGBTQ or other extremely vulnerable classes, but we also support other types of immigration cases. We offer pro bono and low bono services in an effort to provide accessible legal representation to a community that is often not well established or even authorized to work lawfully in this country. We believe in not only provided excellent legal representation, but also being intentional about our work with clients and with the greater legal community. AIR also provides support to other non-profits across the region and is a part of MEMigration, a larger coalition for non-profit immigrant-oriented organizations, as well as a smaller initiative, Welcome South, working to build a network of providers representing clients in removal proceedings across the Mid-South.

An externship with AIR will provide the student with practical experience in the immigration field and a more expansive understanding of how immigration laws function in relation to the criminal and civil jurisprudence of this country. The extern will have the opportunity to engage in research projects, assist in the preparation of asylum applications and other removal defense applications. Through their pro bono project work, it is expected that externs will have the opportunity to enhance their legal knowledge and hone their lawyering skills, including research, analysis, persuasive writing, fact investigation, and client interviewing.

- Work on an asylum case that allowed the student to acquire extensive understanding of immigration law and procedure, draft motions, and research specific legal issues.
- Work on one of several Tennessee Innocence Project cases being handled by the firm, including analysis of transcripts of prior hearings, research on substantive legal issues, discussion of strategy, and drafting motions and memoranda in support of motions.
- Work to support foundational research on the policies and practices of the Tennessee Parole Board, requiring collection and assessment of data, identifying statutory bases for policies, surveying state and federal laws, and researching the rights of incarcerated individuals.

Students enrolled in this externship will be exposed to the wide variety of legal matters handled by the Office of Legal Counsel on behalf of its University client, examples of which include matters involving labor and employment disputes; academic and student issues; athletic and research compliance; business and real estate transactions; contract drafting and review; formulation and implementation of University policies; and intellectual property. University of Tennessee Research Foundation

The University of Tennessee Research Foundation (UTRF), the technology transfer office for the University of Tennessee system, is seeking legal interns for summer 2022 in its Memphis office. UTRF is looking for current law students who are interested in entrepreneurship and intellectual property, with a preference for interns having a scientific background. The summer legal intern(s) will support UTRF in the commercialization of inventions created at the various campuses of the University of Tennessee (UT).

UTHSC has an active program of basic, clinical and translational research in a wide variety of disciplines focused on the health issues that impact the local community, the state of Tennessee and the world. As the technology transfer office for UTHSC, UTRF provides an essential bridge between academia and industry to commercialize technology created by faculty researchers. UTRF's purpose is to move technologies from lab to marketplace through intellectual property development and commercial licensing.

UTRF is a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization that promotes the commercialization of UT intellectual property, encourages an entrepreneurial culture, contributes to state and regional economic development, and promotes research and education to benefit the people of Tennessee and beyond.

UTRF offers numerous opportunities for learning and hands-on experience in the fields of intellectual property and commercial licensing. Legal interns will work directly under the supervision of UTRF's Senior Staff Attorney (Lakita Cavin, JD/PhD) and Technology Manager (James Parrett, JD/PharmD) to analyze UTHSC technologies and develop strategies for their intellectual property protection and licensing to commercial entities. Following initial orientation and training, summer legal interns will be assigned several technologies to work on. Additional assignments may include:

- Preparing patentability and freedom-to-operate assessments on new technologies
- Developing strategies for patenting UT inventions and working with technology managers and outside counsel to manage patent applications
- Assisting in negotiating and drafting license agreements, options, term sheets, material transfer agreements, and other agreements
- Writing legal memos on current intellectual property topics or technology transfer issues.

We hope to offer our legal interns broad exposure to all areas of our work and encourage our interns to help us customize the overall internship experience to meet their interests and career goals. An ideal candidate is a detail oriented, critical thinker with excellent verbal and written communication skills. This position may be either part time or full time. Total weekly hours will depend on the number of interns hired, current office workload and intern interest. UTRF offers flexible scheduling, including potential for telecommuting and remote work. Ideally, summer legal interns would be available to work at least 2-3 days per week at the Memphis office. Successful summer legal interns may have the opportunity to continue their work through the school year through University sponsored externship courses.

Job Qualifications/Requirements: Must be a current law student (1L or 2L) with a scientific or technical background, with a minimum of a B.S. degree in life science, physical science, healthcare or engineering. Preference will be given to students with an advanced degree in a life science and prior experience with intellectual property protection and/or healthcare.

If you are looking for an exciting and unique internship opportunity combining law and science, we invite you to apply for a summer position with UTRF.

University of Tennessee Health Science Center – Office of Sponsored Programs

The Office of Sponsored Programs (OSP) provides support to the faculty and staff of The University of Tennessee Health Science Center (UTHSC) in their efforts to obtain external funding in support of their scholarly endeavors, while ensuring compliance with UT policy, sponsor terms and conditions, and applicable state and federal regulation and law. OSP staff review, negotiate, and approve all proposals for grants and research contracts and operate on the frontlines of health law to negotiate with other universities, government entities, and private companies to ensure that our faculty are able to conduct their research in this competitive market. All universities that accept extramural support have a sponsored programs office (or equivalent functional area) charged with binding the university to the terms and conditions included in the applications submitted and the awards received. The office functions include proper stewardship and oversight of regulatory compliance related to the research, including ensuring human subjects safety, animal safety, and compliance with export control and biosafety regulations.

An externship with OSP would allow a student to be a part of our contracts team and learn about the art of contract negotiation and the many different types of contracts that are used for biomedical research. Some of those contract types include: clinical trial agreements, grant agreements, research collaboration agreements, data use agreements, material transfer agreements, confidentiality agreements, and subcontracts and subawards.

The student will be supervised by the OSP Assistant Director for Research Agreements, and OSP will work with the student to create a schedule that will work with their classes. Training will be provided for redlining agreements, negotiating with other parties, and relevant law and policies that continually affect our contracts here in Tennessee and at UTHSC.

About the Internship

Legal interns at St. Jude spend a summer immersed in a unique culture where basic, translational, and clinical research are all housed on the same campus in a robust hospital; where biochemists, computational biologists, geneticists, and statisticians routinely interact with medical and research specialists in infectious diseases, oncology, pharmacology, radiology, surgery, and hematology (including sickle cell disease). Interns will work with a number of lawyers, both in-house and (with supervision) outside counsel, on substantive projects in many aspects of the law – some of which will depend on the intern's interests – including health law, business transactions, risk management, international law, intellectual property, commercial transactions, labor and employment, clinical trials, grants and contracts, and even shaping law and regulations at the State and Federal levels. As part of the intern experience, each intern will tour and learn about legal issues related to patient housing, clinics, Children's GMP, and Environmental Health and Safety, and will have training in Export Control and HIPAA. Interns also have worked in depth with the Office of Technology Licensing, Managed Care, and Environmental Health and Safety. We take our mentoring obligations very seriously (and enjoy it!), so every assignment comes with plenty of context and follow-through opportunities for the interns, and client interaction is plentiful. Moreover, interns will find themselves routinely included in meetings of all types for educational purposes. Every past intern has given our program remarkably high scores, according to their respective law schools.

Application Details

Those who are in the second semester of the second year are encouraged to apply. Applicants must be fluent in English, have exceptional grades, and have taken Professional Responsibility or have passed the Multi State Professional Responsibility Exam (MPRE). To prevent conflicts of interest, we do not accept students who have relatives working at St. Jude, except in extraordinary circumstances. Please send a CV and include your undergraduate, graduate (if any), and law school GPAs, and a cover letter to Professor Daniel Schaffzin, addressed to Kaleigh Davis, for consideration. It is crucial that the cover letter address why the applicant wishes to have an internship at St. Jude, the intern's expectations, and why the intern believes he or she "belongs" here.
