

THE UNIVERSITY OF MEMPHIS LAW REVIEW

VOLUME 49

2018–2019

BOOKS 1–4

Dear Authors and Readers,

Thank you for visiting The University of Memphis Law Review website. We strive to publish volumes of legal scholarship of the highest quality. Our goal is to provide authors with a professional editing process and readers with useful and insightful legal scholarship. We are proud to call the Cecil C. Humphreys School of Law our home, and we view our work as a reflection of the school's caliber and the rigor of its curriculum. Because of that, we want every author and reader to see the highly individualized commitment that we bring to the editing process.

Our published authors include scholars, judges, and practicing attorneys from all over the world who write on novel legal topics. We do not limit publication opportunities to questions applicable only to specific jurisdictions. Rather, we look to publish the best articles and essays we receive. We value contributions that are clear, concise, and well-structured. Volume 49 is proud to publish in Book 1 a collection of essays authored the participants of the "MLK 50 Symposium: Where Do We Go From Here?", honoring the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. We also look forward to hosting our annual symposium "Barriers at the Ballot Box: Protecting or Limiting the Core of the American Identity?" on March 15, 2019. Contributions from this symposium will be published in Book 4. Please visit the symposium page for more information on this exciting event.

Volume 49's Editorial Board hopes to build upon The University of Memphis Law Review's reputation for developing collegial relationships with authors and producing excellent issues of the journal. From the moment an author accepts our offer of publication, our staff strives to communicate effectively. Throughout the editing process, our source-checking and citation-formatting staff will find and correct citations, allowing our Articles Editors to focus exclusively on the content and structure of a manuscript. In this way, our authors receive integrated and effective feedback—rather than sporadic communication—from a member of our team who knows the structure, theme, and thesis of the argument by heart.

We welcome direct submissions of article and essay manuscripts. If you would like us to consider your work for publication, please email a résumé, cover letter, and Microsoft Word-compatible manuscript file to Senior Articles Editor Trevor Schrader at trschrdr@memphis.edu. If you would like to subscribe to The University of Memphis Law Review, please contact Business and Media Editor Preston Dennis at pdennis1@memphis.edu. If you have any other questions, or I may otherwise be of assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me directly at wlrnson@memphis.edu. Until then, we thank you again for visiting our website, and we look forward to working with you.

Sincerely yours,

Whitney L. Robinson, Editor-in-Chief
Volume 49 The University of Memphis Law Review