

Ned R. McWherter Library

PRESENTS

NEDtalks

Social Justice

Wednesday, February 21

Thursday, February 22

3 p.m.

Ned R. McWherter Library, Room 226

Join us at Ned R. McWherter Library for NEDtalks, a two-day short-form symposium. Speakers will share their recent research in short presentations designed to engage and entertain. Refreshments will be provided.

Wednesday

- 3:00 Dr. Ty Dooley, Public and Nonprofit Administration
Critical Race Theory as a Tool for Understanding Medicaid Expansion Decision Making in a Post-Affordable Care Act Environment
- 3:15 Dr. Ron Serino, University College
King Solomon's Whiteness: King James & the Scripturalization of Whiteness in Early Modern Britain & Colonial America
- 3:30 Dr. Steven Soifer, Social Work
The Anti-Trump Resistance Movement: A MAP Analysis
- 3:45 Dr. Stephanie Madden & Dr. Robby Byrd, Journalism and Strategic Media
Pussyhat Riot: Intersectionality in Visual Representations of Grassroots Craftivism

Thursday

- 3:00 Trevor Rawls, Graduate Student, Anthropology
Why There is a Need for Reforming HIV/AIDS Laws in Tennessee
- 3:15 Dr. Dennis Laumann, History
A Living Wage and Dr. King's Vision
- 3:30 Andrew Carter, PhD Graduate Student, Communication
"Get Big or Go Home:" A Narrative Analysis of Black Farmers in the U.S. South
- 3:45 Andrea Jacobo, Graduate Student, Public Health
A Place at the Table: Literacy, Discrimination, and Social Inequities in the Era of Health Care Reform