

NEDtalks

SCHOLARSHIP WORTH SHARING

UofM faculty & instructors will share their research in the TEDtalks style. Refreshments will be provided.

NED R. McWHERTER LIBRARY, 2nd FLOOR COMMONS

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 1

2:30 PM Reception

3:00 Kimbrough Oller, Ph.D.
Communication Sciences & Disorders
The Origin of Language in Human Evolution and Development

3:15 Thomas Hagen, Ph.D.
Mathematical Sciences
The Loser Takes All: Emergence of Inequality in Fluid-Dynamical Competition

3:30 Dipankar Dasgupta, Ph.D.
Computer Science
Socio-Economic Disruption of Gen AI Tools: ChatGPT and Other Large Language Models (LLMs)

3:45 Break

4:00 Ruoxu Wang, Ph.D.
Communication & Fine Arts
Placing IGA in a Mobile VR Game: How Do Game Mode, Brand Familiarity, and Game Skill Level Influence Game Engagement and Advertising Clutter?

4:15 Suzanne Onstine, Ph.D.
College of Arts & Sciences
The Nile River and Human Interactions: Scientific and Humanities-Based Investigations

THURSDAY, NOV. 2

2:30 PM Reception

3:00 Bryna Bobick, Ed.D.
Communication & Fine Arts
Art and Museum Education: A Dynamic Partnership

3:15 Josef Hanson, Ph.D.
Rudi E. Scheidt School of Music
All You Need Is Blood: Did The Beatles Invent Heavy Metal Music?

3:30 Trish Lange, M.S.
UM3D, University Libraries
I Can't Believe I'm in a Database: Actualizing Student Scholars Using Digital Commons

3:45 Break

4:00 Kevin C. Taylor, Ph.D.
College of Arts & Sciences
Mutterings to the Wall: Zen and Graffiti

4:15 Jeremy Orosz, Ph.D.
Rudi E Scheidt School of Music
"Take it to the Bridge": Another Look at the Prechorus in R&B Music

4:30 Diana Ruggiero, Ph.D.
& J. Elliott Casal, Ph.D.
College of Arts & Sciences
Ayúdame! Multilingualism, Access, and Health Disparities: The Importance of Spanish Proficiency in the US Healthcare System

