

Faculty Authors

As part of its overall plan to support research and curriculum at the University of Memphis, Collection Development strives to represent faculty authors within the collections of the University Libraries. While it is not always possible to obligate the library to a journal title in which a faculty member has been published, monographic publications are most often attainable.

To acquire these titles, Collection Management requests the assistance of faculty authors. A donated copy for the circulating collection and/or Special Collections is always welcome. Please follow the guidelines for gift donations if you are considering this option.

Otherwise, please email your title's bibliographic data to Collection Management or your department's Library Liaison for optimal consideration.
