

Allan Creasy for TN House District 97 Internship Description

Allan Creasy's campaign for Tennessee House District 97 is seeking interns for spring, summer, and fall semesters in 2018. Interns will play a vital role in determining a successful campaign outcome. Interns will participate in a variety of campaign-related activities and gain real-world experience related to the following:

- Event planning;
- Voter contact/outreach efforts, including phone banking, canvassing, attending community events, placing yard signs and distributing printed campaign materials;
- Marketing-related tasks, including social media marketing and targeted advertising;
- Organizational tasks, including data entry, and campaign calendar management;
- Research, including community events, and community organizations;
- Other duties and tasks as assigned.

Applicants should display the following abilities, interests and skills:

- Strong interest in gaining political or campaign experience;
- Strong computer skills, including G Suite (Google Office Suite);
- Ability to multitask, work independently, and self-motivate;
- Exemplary verbal and written communication skills;
- Attention to detail;
- Ability to meet deadlines;
- Flexibility in an ever-changing environment.

District 97 residents are strongly encouraged to apply, and bilingual English/Spanish speakers are strongly encouraged to apply (regardless of major or district of residence).

Spring 2018 applications are due Friday January 26th, Summer 2018 applications are due Friday April 13th, and Fall 2018 applications are due Friday August 3rd.

Applicants can send questions and apply by sending a resume to Molly Peacher-Ryan at info@allancreasy.com.
