Reported Crime Continues Decline Through First Half of Year

Based on preliminary data from the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation (TBI) released by the University of Memphis Public Safety Institute and the Memphis Shelby Crime Commission, reported crime continued a steady decline during the first half of 2026 compared to 2025 and other previous years.

Major violent crime includes the categories of murder, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault. In Memphis, the major violent crime rate dropped 31.5 percent compared to 2025 and 30.4 percent countywide. Every category declined.

2011 had been the most recent year with the lowest violent crime rate. The first half of 2026 was lower than the first half of 2011 – by 5.2 percent in Memphis and 8.7 percent throughout Shelby County. Violent crime peaked in 2023. Compared to the first half of 2023, the violent crime rate has plummeted by 45.0 percent in Memphis and 44.0 percent in all of Shelby County.

Major property crime includes the categories of burglary, vehicle theft, and other felony theft. All three categories declined in the first half of 2026 compared to 2025, with the major property crime rate dropping 40.6 percent in Memphis and 40.2 percent countywide. The decline was led by a decrease of 60 percent in vehicle theft compared to 2025 and over 80 percent compared to 2023. Compared to the first half of 2023, the overall major property crime rate has dropped by over 60 percent.

The TBI measures an overall "Group A" crime rate by collecting data on 54 different categories of crime. During the first half of 2026, the overall crime rate declined 23.8 percent in Memphis and 23.7 percent countywide compared to the first half of 2025.

Domestic violence is the hidden part of our violent crime challenge, with most of it occurring in homes behind closed doors. While reported domestic violence offenses declined some in the first half of 2026 compared to 2025, the decline was not as steep as the major violent categories, with a 5.7 percent drop in Memphis and 5.9 percent countywide. Last week, the University of Memphis Public Safety Institute unveiled a strategic plan to curb domestic violence through both better services to victims and more accountability for perpetrators.

The TBI tracks reported offenses involving firearms. While there were still over 5,000 reported firearms offenses, that represented a 35.1 percent decline in Memphis and 34.8 percent decrease throughout the county compared to the first half of 2025.

Some have expressed concern that the significant reduction in reported crimes in Memphis has simply driven those crimes to parts of the county outside of Memphis. The TBI figures do not support that. While the decline was not as steep, those areas of the county outside of Memphis also showed declines.

The attached tables give a more detailed breakdown of the TBI numbers and rates for various categories of crime and for multiple years.

“We should be encouraged by the significant progress we’ve made in our crime rate. Now is not the time to let up. We must be committed to best practices and adequate resources to keep driving the numbers down,” said Bill Gibbons, president of the Crime Commission and executive director of the Public Safety Institute.

###

About the Crime Statistics: In measuring crime rates and trends, the Memphis Shelby Crime Commission and the Public Safety Institute use primarily preliminary data reported by local enforcement agencies to the Tennessee Incident Based Reporting System (TIBRS), which was developed and is maintained by the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation. An incident is defined in TIBRS as “one or more offenses committed by the same offender or group of offenders acting in concert, at the same time and place.” Certain types of violent crimes and domestic violence offenses, however, uniquely refer to a victim count versus an incident count. All rates are calculated based on per 100,000 population.

About the Memphis Shelby Crime Commission (www.memphiscrime.org): The Memphis Shelby Crime Commission is an independent, non-profit 501(c) (3) organization that “quarterbacks” the work of the Safe Community Action Plan. It is funded through the generous contributions of many private sector donors. Ben Adams, chairman emeritus of Baker Donelson law firm, serves as chair of the board, and Bill Gibbons serves as president of the Commission.

About the Safe Community Action Plan (www.memphiscrime.org): Launched initially in 2007, the Safe Community Action Plan, development of which is spearheaded by the Memphis Shelby Crime Commission, is a community-based crime reduction and prevention initiative. The current Safe Community Action Plan (2022-2026) is in its fifth year and a new five-year plan is being developed. Implementation of the Safe Community Action Plan is chaired by Shelby County Sheriff Floyd Bonner.

About the Public Safety Institute (www.memphis.edu/psi/): The Public Safety Institute of the University of Memphis is an interdisciplinary part of the University community committed to identifying and advancing best practices in the field of public safety through applied research. It is housed in the School of Urban Affairs and Public Policy. Bill Gibbons serves as executive director, Dr. Amaia Iratzoqui serves as research director, and Dr. James McCutcheon serves as the senior research developer.
