

JUMP-START Your Public Health Journey

Through The University of Memphis School of Public Health

Public Health in Action Initiative

An opportunity to learn real-world public health that influences the world!

In a rapidly changing world, innovative ideas are essential to improve health and well-being for everyone. This program emphasizes experiential learning by doing, engaging with communities and integrating “glocalization” into solution-focused approaches and transformative leadership.

What is Public Health In Action?

Public Health In Action is a Program for Future Global Changemakers

Are you curious about how public health shapes the world—and how you can be part of it?

The Public Health In Action online, continuing education initiative is designed for students from around the world who are interested in exploring the cutting edge of health, science, and innovation, to build thriving communities.

Through this program, you will:

- Discover real-world innovations in Public Health — and how artificial intelligence and other new technologies can solve today’s biggest public health challenges.
- Learn how to dissect misinformation and disinformation in the public health space.
- Dive into Public Health Diplomacy and learn how public health professionals navigate complex global health and healthcare issues by learning from global leaders in the field of public health.
- Connect and collaborate with peers and public health experts from around the world, gaining cultural insights and building networks across borders.

Learning with Impact

- Build Your Portfolio
- Grow Your Network
- Become a Public Health Ambassador
- Connect Real World Application of Today’s Public Health Challenges
- Establish a Design Thinking Approach
- Develop an Entrepreneurial Mindset
- Gain Research Skills
- Bring numbers to life by understanding data
- Discover the Power of Digital Storytelling in Public Health
- Nurture your creativity and problem-solving abilities

Available for credit transfer to the Undergraduate program in Public Health offered by University of Memphis School of Public Health

Flexible Online Format

Register Today!

Submit Applications to PHIASPH@memphis.edu

CONNECT WITH OUR TEAM

Ishan Basu Ray, MPH
Strategic Initiatives Research Associate
ibasuray@memphis.edu
901-678-4544

How to Apply