Faculty and Student Spotlights

Frannie Harper-Mion and Robbin Lennon-Dearing

Dr. Robin Lennon-Dearing

More than thirty women living with HIV in the Memphis area were joined by fifteen community agencies and 25 social work student volunteers for the Second Annual Women’s Empowerment Forum held on December 4, 2014 at the Urban Child Institute.

The women participated in a full-day educational and healing-oriented event where they received information and encouragement to be proactive in their self-care. This event was planned and implemented by a committee of volunteers, chaired by Dr. Lennon-Dearing, and supported through donations from community organizations and agencies.

Special appreciation goes to Frannie Harper, MSW ’15, for her creativity and community connections that made this event a success. And thanks to the student volunteers from Dr. Lennon-Dearing’s SWRK 3904 Practice II class for their willingness to volunteer their time and enthusiasm.

Bria Gibson

Bria Gibson, a senior in the BASW Program, is completing a semester-long internship in Nashville, TN with the Tennessee Legislative Internship Program.

In the spring semester of each year, promising seniors or graduate students enrolled in degree programs in social work, political science, laws, history, administration, economics, sociology, journalism, or related fields are placed with Tennessee General Assembly legislators to gain hands-on experience in government. Bria’s duties include bill and policy analysis, constituent work, and computer and library research.

Bria has been assigned to the following senators: Representative Steve McManus (Republican – Cordova/District 96) and Representative Antonio Parkinson (Democrat – Memphis/District 98). While completing her field practicum in Nashville, Bria plans to learn about developing and reforming federal policies, and advocating for oppressed groups.
