

YOURVOICEYOURVOTE 2014

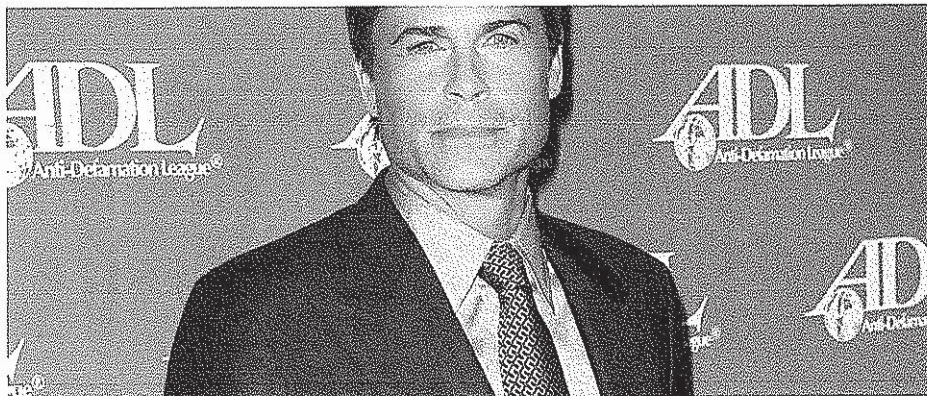

MAP RACES TO WATCH Select a State ▼									SENATE	GOV	HOUSE
KENTUCKY	▶	GEORGIA	▶	NORTH CAROLINA	▶	NEW HAMPSHIRE	▶	FLORIDA	▶	34 DEM	0 IND	30 REP
Senate		Senate		Senate		Senate		Governor		0	0	0
McCormack (R) *	50%	Nunn (D)	0%	Hagan (D) *	0%	Brown (R)	0%	Crist (D)	0%	21 seats needed for GOP control; 36 seats not yet projected
Grimes (D)	38%	Perdue (R)	0%	Haugh (LB)	0%	Shabazz (D) *	0%	Scott (R) *	0%
Patterson (LB)	2%	Swofford (LB)	0%	Ellis (R)	0%	0		Wylie (LB)	0%	Seats needed for majority 51
* UNOFFICIAL PRELIMINARY RESULTS						Last updated: 11-04-14 6:28:56 PM ET

Shy Bladder Group Protests DirecTV Ad

NEW YORK — Nov 4, 2014, 12:22 PM ET

By DAVID BAUDER AP Television Writer

Like 51 15 17 8+1 0 0 Comments

FILE - In this Oct. 16, 2012 file photo, actor Rob Lowe attends the Entertainment Industry Awards Dinner at the Beverly Hilton Hotel in Beverly Hills, Calif. Lowe stars in ads for DirecTV encouraging people to switch from cable. (Photo by Richard Shotwell/Invision/AP, File)

Richard Shotwell/Invision/AP

AP

Shy bladder sufferers want DirecTV to stop airing a television ad where a "painfully awkward" actor Rob Lowe says that he can't urinate in public.

The satellite TV company suggests its critics should be able to take a joke.

Part of a campaign to encourage people to switch from cable, the ad features two Lowes: a handsome one in a slick suit who claims to be a DirecTV customer, and a goofy-looking Lowe wearing a fanny pack with his hair parted in the middle. "Painfully awkward" Lowe is a cable customer.

The ad touts DirecTV's service, saying cable makes subscribers wait.

"Fact: I can't go with other people in the room," said awkward Lowe, standing at a urinal.

The ad is in poor taste and ridicules a serious problem, said Steve Soifer, CEO of the International Paruresis Association, which estimates that some 7 percent of Americans have some form of "shy bladder syndrome."

"We don't mind if people have a little fun with it," said Soifer, a social work professor at the University of Memphis. "It's a situation that a lot of people don't understand. In this particular case, the portrayal is making it look ridiculous, that this guy is a loser for having a problem."

"What if he didn't have a leg or an arm?" he said. "Are you going to make fun of them?"

Members of his group have written and called DirecTV, asking that the ad be removed. But Darris Gringeri, spokesman for DirecTV, said it won't.

"The ads will continue to run for the vast majority of viewers who have told us they enjoy the

HOT RIGHT NOW

- Chilling Video Shows Woman's Abduction
- Where Do I Vote Today?
- Woman Discovered in NYC Phone Booth in 1965 Looks for...
- New Clues Emerge in Philadelphia Abduction
- Midterm Elections 2014: Live Updates

YOU MIGHT ALSO LIKE...

- This Gas Station Might Be the Most Dangerous in America
- Street Harassment of Women Exposed
- Man Shown in Video Being Dragged by Fireman

PHOTO GALLERIES

spots and understand that, like all of our commercials, they take place in a fantasy world and are not based in reality," Gringeri said.

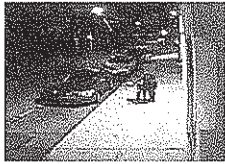

Like 51

15

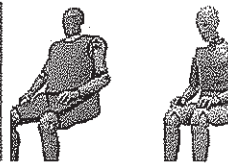

17 8+1 0

0 Comments

FROM AROUND THE WEB

New Lead in Videotaped Philadelphia Abduction

Crash Test Dummies Gain Weight to Save Lives

MORE FROM ABC NEWS

WATCH: Chilling Video Shows Woman's Abduction in Philadelphia

NY Woman Wanted Grandson's Father Dead, Body Thrown to Alligators, Authorities Say

Why Taylor Swift Pulled All Her Music From Spotify

'Furious 7': Check out the First Official Trailer

Eliza Dushku Describes Being Robbed at Comic Con

Recommended by

JOIN THE DISCUSSION

0 Comments

ABC News

Login

Sort by Best

Share Favorite

Start the discussion...

Be the first to comment.

ALSO ON ABC NEWS

How Today's Election May Effect Medicaid Expansion

Lena Dunham Apologizes for 'Sexual Predator' Section in Her ...

WHAT'S THIS?

Vatican Official Slams Brittany Maynard's Assisted ...

Mother of Missing Woman Pleads For Her Return

SEE IT, SHARE IT

The Moment 'Thumb'-thing Went Wrong While Mitch McConnell Voted

Aaron P. Bernstein/Getty Images

Vatican Official Slams Brittany Maynard's Assisted Suicide

Maynard Family/AP Photo

New Clues Emerge in Philadelphia Abduction

Philadelphia Police Department

All Right, All Right, All Right: Who's This Future Oscar Winner?

Boh Poppel-Yaselsky Library

Red Bull 'Meteor' Lights Up Sky and Internet

Red Bull

Police: Woman Wanted Grandson's Father Dead, Body 'Thrown to Alligators'

ABC News

Incumbent Governors Seek To Defend Seats Across The Country

AP Photo

HOME > ENTERTAINMENT