First-Year Team Reaches Finals of Ohio State Case Competition

The Master of Health Administration (MHA) program team at the University of Memphis School of Public Health were finalists at the 2018 Ohio State University Healthcare Case Competition. This year’s Memphis team was Annie Key, Laura Ramsey and Clark Story, with Chelsea Thomas serving as alternate. The annual OSU Healthcare Case Competition, held this year on April 6 at OSU Wexner Medical Center in Columbus, OH, is a competition featuring first-year graduate students in MHA, MB, and MPA programs from across the country.

Dr. Paige Powell, assistant professor of Health Systems Management and Policy and the faculty mentor for Memphis’ case competition teams, said, “These four first-year students have worked incredibly hard over the past three weeks to complete their case analysis and presentation. We are extremely proud of their efforts in showcasing the quality of the education they are receiving at the University of Memphis.”

Participation in the OSU Healthcare Case Competition was made possible, in part, due to the CAHME-Aramark Innovation Grant the Memphis MHA program received in fall 2017. This $5,000 grant – the highest for any single program nationally – recognized and sought to further enhance Memphis’ approach to student leadership development, including participation in national case competitions.

Dr. Erik Carlton, MHA Program director, noted, “We could not be more proud of our exceptional students. Their efforts and sacrifice brought significant recognition to them each individually, as well as to the Memphis MHA program and the University of Memphis. They are a remarkable team and demonstrate the incredible quality of our Memphis MHA students. Go Tigers!”

Graduate Assistantships have DOUBLED!
In spring 2018, we had 30 students serving in graduate assistantships - 13 were second-year students and 17 were first-year students. At the time of posting this newsletter, we had 13 second-year students serving at graduate assistantships and 11 first-year students. Since we began the graduate assistantship program in fall 2001, our community partners have paid our students nearly $3.1 million. The Master of Health Administration program and its students are extremely fortunate to have the incredible support of our Community Partners. For spring 2018, those partners included: Baptist Memorial Hospital, Baptist Women’s Hospital, Baptist Medical Group, Baptist Corporate, Methodist University Hospital, LifeLinc, Saint Francis Hospital Bartlett, University of Tennessee Medical Group, Regional One Health, Church Health, MetroCare Physicians, Methodist South Hospital and Health Choice.

DIVISION OF HEALTH SYSTEMS MANAGEMENT AND POLICY UPDATE

FACULTY PROFILES

Dr. Aram Dobalian, PhD, JD, MPH
Professor & Division Director
Dr. Dobalian’s research and consulting focus on access and quality of care during disasters and other crises, including work on community health resilience, crisis leadership, inpatient and outpatient quality metrics, healthcare facility evacuation, information technology in disasters, disaster behavioral health, and workforce readiness. He is a member of the Standing Committee on Medical and Public Health Research During Large-Scale Emergency Events of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. Dr. Dobalian led the development of the first U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) Comprehensive Emergency Management Program Evaluation and Research agenda in 2007-08. In 2010, he became the founding director of the Veterans Emergency Management Evaluation Center (VEMEC), the only national research center focused on VA’s emergency management responsibilities – to ensure timely access to high-quality care for veterans during crises, and to improve the nation’s health preparedness for response to national emergencies, natural disasters and terrorism. As of 2017, he has served as PI or co-PI on grants totaling more than $22 million. At the University of Memphis, he currently teaches two classes, Health Care Law and Public Health Leadership in Emergency Response (aka Crisis Leadership). Last November, he moderated a panel about the 2017 Hepatitis A outbreak in San Diego County and the 2017 Northern California wildfires during the Closing General Session at the 5th Annual National Healthcare Coalition Preparedness Conference before more than 1100 attendees from all 50 states and U.S. territories.

SangNam Ahn, PhD, MPSA
Associate Professor &
PhD Program Coordinator

Dr. Ahn is an associate professor and a coordinator for Health Systems and Policy PhD Program. He teaches two graduate-level courses including Health Policy and Organizations of Health Services, Aging, Public Health and Health Services. Trained as a health services researcher, Dr. Ahn has been extensively interested in aging, obesity, chronic disease and health promotion issues. Current research projects include: (1) development of a web-based cost savings estimator tool for evidence-based behavioral interventions (www ebp savings info), (2) effects of Affordable Care Act on ED visits and hospital admissions among older adults with multiple chronic conditions, (3) impact of a faith-based community nurse (FCN) intervention on reducing hospital re-admissions and ER visits and (4) roles of social support in mediating the negative effects of adverse childhood experiences (ACES) on mental health and obesity among children. As of April 2018, Dr. Ahn has published two book chapters and 65 peer-reviewed journal articles at prestigious journals including BMC Public Health, International Journal of Public Health, Medical Care, Maturitas and American Journal of Health Promotion. Dr. Ahn will travel to Japan and South Korea to conduct his Professional Development Assignment (sabbatical leave) this fall.

Soumitra Bhuyan, PhD, MPH
Assistant Professor

Dr. Bhuyan received his PhD in health services research from the University of Nebraska Medical Center in 2014. In addition to his appointment at the University of Memphis, he is a Senior Fellow at the American Hospital Association’s Health Research and Educational Trust. Dr. Bhuyan has received several awards for his research and leadership roles in health administration. In 2013, Dr. Bhuyan won the Rising Star award from the American Public Health Association’s Health Administration Section. The award recognizes the outstanding potential in the field of health administration and public health practice. He also recently received the 2017 Charles E. Gibbs Leadership Prize. The award is given annually to recognize excellence in research on women’s health care or policy. Dr. Bhuyan currently serves as an associate editor of British Medical Journal Global Health.

David C. Burchfield, PhD
Associate Professor &
Graduate Studies Coordinator

Dr. Burchfield, a native Memphian, earned his bachelor’s and master’s degrees in economics from the University of Memphis. He then attended Cornell University and earned his PhD in health economics, and was hired to teach in The Sloan Program in Health Administration upon graduation. After one year, he was offered a position in the MHA program at the University of Memphis and returned home in 1999. He has taught in our MHA program for the past 19 years. He has also held many external positions including as president of the Mid-South Health Care Executives and as president of the Tennessee Chapter of Healthcare Financial Management Association. Internally, he has served as the coordinator of our Internship Program and as the Graduate Assistantship Coordinator since 2007. In addition, he has authored our MHA Newsletters every semester since their inception in 2008.

Erik L. Carlton, DrPH, MS
Assistant Professor &
MHA Program Director

Dr. Carlton’s research focuses on health care and public health leadership and the integration of public health and primary care systems. He teaches the healthcare management leadership, population health management, healthcare quality and outcomes and health policy and the organization of health systems courses for the School of Public Health. Having lived in both France and China, he has a strong presence in international healthcare leadership development and has trained clinical and administrative leaders from 28 countries. Dr. Carlton has nearly two decades of managerial and leadership experience in both private and public sector organizations and has served a consultant to numerous hospital systems, local health departments, and other healthcare organizations. He is on the board of the Mid-South Health Care Executives and is past treasurer of the Health Administration section of the American Public Health Association. Dr. Carlton is the author of three books – *Leadership for Public Health: Theory and Practice: Leading People, Managing Organizations – Contemporary Public Health Leadership: and Defining
Mark Hendricks, MHA

Visiting Assistant Professor & Executive-in-Residence

Professor Hendricks received his MHA degree from Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis. He served as a health care management practitioner for 38 years prior to starting a teaching career at the University of Memphis. Beginning his health care career at Baptist Memorial Hospital – Memphis, he served as the administrator of Baptist Hospital – Newport. Immediately prior to joining the School of Public Health faculty, he served for 12 years as vice president at ALSAC/St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital. Mr. Hendricks teaches classes in Health Care Strategic Planning, Professional Development, Health Policy and Capstone - Master’s Project. Mr. Hendricks is a trustee and board secretary of the HBCU LeMoyne-Owen College.

M. Paige Powell, PhD

Assistant Professor

Dr. Powell’s research focuses on bringing patients, providers and researchers together to improve the quality of healthcare services. She received a national competitive Eugene Washington PCORI Engagement Award from the Patient Centered Outcomes Research Institute in 2015. The UNITE for Better Health Outcomes project focused on building the capacity for patient and family caregivers to work as a team with researchers and providers to improve the care of African-American cancer patients in Memphis. She has successfully built a coalition of patient and family caregivers, researchers, providers and support group representatives to train stakeholders about patient-centered principles and team building. Dr. Powell is also interested in the role that multiple chronic conditions have in influencing healthcare use, especially in the emergency setting. Dr. Powell is a noted health policy expert who has frequently commented on health policy issues for TV and radio news, regional newspapers and national medical news websites. Dr. Powell teaches courses in Health Policy, Theory and Methods, and Healthcare Quality and Outcomes Management. She also coaches Master of Health Administration students in several national case competitions where the teams have often made the semi-final and final rounds. Additionally, Dr. Powell coordinates the University-wide School of Public Health Interdisciplinary Case Competition, where graduate students from across the university compete in teams to develop programs and solutions to health care issues facing Memphis and Shelby County residents.

MHA Director Publishes New Leadership Textbook

MHA Director Publishes New Leadership Textbook

Dr. Erik L. Carlton, DrPH, MHA program director and assistant professor of Health Systems Management & Policy, published a new leadership textbook this spring. Co-authored with Dr. James W. Holsinger, Jr., chancellor emeritus at the University of Kentucky, Leadership for Public Health: Theory and Practice blends critical leadership theory with case studies and real-world applications to help prepare public health and healthcare leaders for the dynamic world of health systems leadership. The textbook is published by Health Administration Press and is now being used in classrooms and leadership training institutes across the country, as well as at universities in China and Africa.
MHA Program Receives Back-to-Back National Awards

The Master of Health Administration (MHA) program at the University of Memphis School of Public Health has received its second national award in less than a year in recognition for its innovative approach to healthcare leadership development. The Memphis MHA program received the CAHME-Ascension Award for Excellence in Healthcare Leadership Development at the CAHME Awards Luncheon in conjunction with the American College of Healthcare Executives annual Congress on Healthcare Leadership in Chicago on March 25. The award includes a $5,000 grant to the program. CAHME is the Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Management Education.

Dr. Erik Carlton, MHA program director, accepted the award on behalf of the Memphis MHA program noting, “Our MHA program has a foundation of excellence that has been and continues to be built by extraordinary faculty, staff and students.” Dr. Carlton further highlighted the critical role that Memphis’ many healthcare organizations have had in developing the program into a national leader. “This award would not be possible without the support of our individual and corporate partners who, through gifts and programs large and small, have provided millions of dollars to our program in support of our leadership development activities.”

The CAHME-Ascension Award for Excellence in Healthcare Leadership Development was awarded to the University of Memphis MHA program in recognition of its exceptional, comprehensive and integrative approach to leadership development. The program invests heavily in developing students’ leadership competencies by integrating leadership learning throughout the curriculum. The program also provides paid extended internships to nearly every student throughout their course of study. These internships place students in leading local healthcare organizations across Memphis – one of the nation’s premiere healthcare hubs. A hallmark of the Memphis MHA approach to leadership development is the “Day One” program that begins with a leadership and team-building retreat for entering students prior to the start of classes. Day One continues throughout the first-year of the program with a series of professional development seminars addressing topics such as professional networking, presentation skills, resume writing, dressing for success, and dining etiquette. This innovative program helps to ensure that Memphis MHA students are among the best-trained and most leader-ready graduates in the country. The program further benefits from deep alumni engagement and several executive adjunct faculty who teach many of the program’s core and elective courses, bringing executive-level real-world knowledge to the classroom.

In addition to the CAHME-Ascension Award, the Memphs MHA program also received a CAHME-Aramark Innovation Grant in fall 2017. This $5,000 grant – the highest for any single program nationally – recognized and sought to further enhance Memphis’ approach to student leadership development. The MHA program will use the grant to expand the program’s “Day One” professional development program with a “Day Two” seminar series for second-year MHA students. Day Two will offer students and increased focus on self-leadership, personal accountability and interpersonal communication – critical competencies for future healthcare leaders. The innovation grant is also providing support to send MHA students to national case competitions.

Regarding the Memphis MHA program winning back-to-back national awards, Dr. Anthony Stanowski, president & CEO of CAHME, said, “By recognizing programs like the University of Memphis MHA Program, CAHME and its corporate partners seek to not only acknowledge programs and students that are doing great work, but also to encourage advancement across the entire field of graduate healthcare education.”
management education. Winning the CAHME/Ascension Award and the CAHME/Aramark Innovation Grant within a single year suggests that the University of Memphis MHA program is performing on a high level and that performance is being recognized by industry leaders.”

MEMPHIS MHA FACULTY, STUDENTS, ALUMNI AND FRIENDS ENJOY RECEPTION AT ACHE CONGRESS IN CHICAGO

The annual Memphis MHA Alumni & Friends Reception at the ACHE Congress on Healthcare Leadership saw faculty, students, alumni and friends come together for a fun night celebrating our back-to-back national awards! Nearly 60 people attended this year’s reception at the Hyatt Regency Chicago, many of whom are pictured below. If you will be at Congress next year, be sure to look for details about our reception. We hope to see you there!
Each year, the Memphis MHA program hosts a graduation banquet to celebrate the outgoing class of incredible MHA students. This year, we graduated our 25th class, and they are one of the more accomplished classes ever! Ten students this class received nationally-competitive administrative fellowships. They also reached the semi-finals of both the NAHSE and UAB Case Competitions. At the banquet, students received a number of awards from the MHA faculty for their academic achievements and contributions to the program.

Student Awards

Six Sigma Green Belt Certificates
MHA students who take the Quality Tools elective and complete their projects are able to receive their Six Sigma Green Belt certificate. The following students finished their requirements and were awarded their certificates by Professor Daniel Clark (MHA ’09): Kendall Neveu and Nathan Pierce.

Upsilon Phi Delta Honor Society Awards
Upsilon Phi Delta is the national health administration honor society. The mission of the Upsilon Phi Delta Honor Society is to recognize, reward and encourage academic excellence in the study of healthcare management and policy. While national standards are set for induction into Upsilon Phi Delta, local chapters are able to set higher standards, which we do at the University of Memphis. Only the top 25% of our students receive this distinction. Inductees receive an honorary cord to be worn at graduation. This year, we were pleased to induct the following students as members of Upsilon Phi Delta: Erin Frazier, Segen Marais, Kristen Muncy, Christina Nagy, Nathan Pierce and Jerica Thompson.

Scholastic Achievement Award
The Scholastic Achievement Award is given annually to the student(s) who attained the highest GPA during their MHA program. This year, for the first time ever, we had four recipients: Erin Frazier, Christina Nagy, Nathan Pierce, & Jerica Thompson.

MHA Program Service Award
Each year, the MHA Program Service Award is given to the student who most significantly contributed to the personal growth of other students and the enrichment and development of the MHA Program. This year’s recipient was Preston Williams.

Most Outstanding Student
The Most Outstanding Student award is given each year to the student who most embodies the values, ideals and principles of the MHA program. While many were carefully considered, we are pleased to announce that the recipients of this year’s Most Outstanding Student Award was Brady Loy.

In addition to the awards from MHA Program faculty, each year the graduating MHA class votes on a set of awards to honor each other. This year’s class identified six special awards they wanted to bestow:

Best Leader | Preston Williams
Fastest to CEO | Samuel Boadi
Best Public Speaker (Male) | Brady Loy
Best Public Speaker (Female) | Abby Morris
Most Likely to Succeed | Kristen Muncy
Best Teammate | Erin Frazier
Faculty Awards

In 2015, the Division of Health Systems Management & Policy established two awards to honor the teaching and research achievements of Division faculty. The David C. Burchfield Excellence in Teaching & Learning Award is given to a faculty member selected by the graduating MHA students for his or her achievement as a teacher and contributions to student learning. The Excellence in Research Achievement award is given to a faculty member who has consistently demonstrated a high degree of impactful scholarly activity.

David C. Burchfield Excellence in Teaching & Learning Award
This year, the David C. Burchfield Excellence in Teaching & Learning Award was awarded to Mark Hendricks.

Excellence in Research Achievement Award
This year, the Excellence in Research Achievement Award was awarded to Soumitra Bhuyan.

University of Memphis MHA Program Has a Unique Graduate Placement Record

Twenty-three of our graduates are commissioned officers in the United States Navy Medical Service Corps and another eight are employed in one of several Veterans Administration Medical Centers across the country. We also have one commissioned officer in the U.S. Army. Locally, Methodist Le Bonheur Healthcare employs 37 of our graduates. Baptist Memorial Health Care Corp. employs another 20. St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital employs 8 and Regional One Health employs 5. Another six are also employed at Erlanger Medical Center in Chattanooga, TN. Altogether, 34% of our graduates work for one of these seven organizations. We also have seven graduates who are medical doctors and eight who have non-medical doctorates. We have one other graduate, Michael Halimariam, who is currently enrolled in medical school.

Our U.S. Navy graduates currently serve in Okinawa (three) (Japan), Scott AFB (one) (Illinois), Jacksonville and Pensacola (one) (Florida), Camp Lejeune (five) (North Carolina), Newport (one) (Rhode Island), Lemoore and San Diego (two) (California), Portsmouth (one) (Virginia), Flowood (one) (Mississippi), Falls Church (one) (Virginia), Charleston (one) (South Carolina), Groton Submarine Base, Groton, CT (one), Navy Training Trauma Center, Los Angeles (one) (California), Naval Hospital, Naples, Italy (one), and NSA Naval Base, Millington, TN (three). Our lone U.S. Army graduate resides in Tacoma, Wash.

Our Veterans Administration graduates currently serve in Loma Linda (one) (California), Roxbury (Massachusetts), Memphis (two) . East Orange (New Jersey), Washington, DC (one), Miami (Florida), San Antonio (Texas) and Northport (New York).
Memphis MHA Program Has Now Drawn Students from 114 Undergraduate Institutions Graduate Placement Record

As of the fall of 2017, the MHA program has had current students and graduates from 114 different North American undergraduate institutions. We have also had students 27 students/graduates from foreign undergraduate programs. That’s quite an accomplishment after having begun as a small regional, part-time program. Here are the U.S. undergraduate institutions represented by our current students and graduates since 1993 along with the number of students from each school:

You never know who you’ll meet one day

Ellen Skinner (left) and Jenna Willingham graduated together in 2012. Jenna moved away from Memphis and Ellen joined Baptist Medical Group in Memphis. Jenna ultimately joined Mission Health in Asheville, N.C. They had not seen each other since graduation UNTIL they both decided to hike the North Carolina Art Loeb Trail at 6,000 feet in February and bumped into each other again on this remote trail. What are the odds that they would meet so surreptitiously? It was such a completely chance meeting, but they were thrilled to have the chance to catch up again!

Alumna and Student Run St. Jude Half Marathon

Allison Bosse (2016) and Kristen Muncy (2018) ran the St. Jude Half Marathon in December. Allison said “It was such a rewarding and honoring experience running for the children of St. Jude. Running through the St. Jude campus was nothing short of inspiring and accomplishing something with a great friend made it all the better.” This was the first half marathon for Kristen, and she trained three months to accomplish the feat. In the photo following their finish, they are seen holding their finishing medals. Allison is on the left and Kristen on the right.
