PERFORMANCE NARRATIVE

Overview of UMID

The University of Memphis Institute on Disability (UMID), founded in 2006, is organizationally associated with the Department of Counseling, Educational Psychology and Research (CEPR) and housed on the Park Avenue campus. UMID is comprised of three units: the Research Unit, the Vocational Unit, and the Career Development and Transition Programs Unit. The Research Unit engages with an interdisciplinary team of on-campus as well as local, regional, national and international affiliates. The interdisciplinary team also includes doctoral-level students who are budding researchers and seek experiences writing grants, conducting research studies, and publishing research in peer-reviewed journals. The Vocational Unit provides all elements of support to help clients become independent and successfully employed, and to retain employment through the Institute’s vocational services as a TN VR Community Rehabilitation Provider, letter of agreement (LOA). UMID has maintained their CRP status since 2014. Under the LOA, UMID renders services in Madison and Shelby counties in West Tennessee through maintaining a TN VR certified staff of employees that provide a variety of services that include: vocational assessments, job development, and job coaching. All five pre-employment transitions service job coaching, job shadowing, work-based learning, workforce readiness, self-advocacy and post-secondary transition counseling. Under the continued contract to provide services for TN VR clients, UMID has grown their service contract from $30,000 to an anticipated contract this year just shy of $200,000. UMID has plenty of room to increase its contract to higher amounts with the extension of services in the greater Mid-South region, at the University’s regional campuses. UMID will continue to place emphasis in providing services to clients with intellectual developmental disabilities, as it is our area of expertise in the region. The Career Development and Inclusive Higher Education (IHE) Transition Programs Unit encompass UMID’s most notable programs: the Tigers Learning Independence Fostering Education and Employment program (TigerLIFE), as well as the dual enrollment partnership program with Shelby County Schools Department of Exceptional Children College Campus Transition Program (CCTP). The CCTP program was inaugurated in the fall of 2011, and will be in its eighth year come fall of 2019. CCTP is a transition program that allows students enrolled at local SCS schools to enroll in the program housed on the University campus, with BRIDGE TWO goals of expanding the CCTP Model program to LEAs in the greater Mid-South region. Students will receive the five pre-ETS transition services in a collegiate atmosphere, where the students gain valuable social inclusion that leads to successful transition to employment and community independence. TigerLIFE, founded in January 2013, is a two-year career development and transition program for 18-29-year-old students with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD). It is a non-degree, 60-credit-hour program that culminates in a certificate in Career and Community Studies. TigerLIFE uses a systematic approach to assess each student’s academic, career, technical, independent living, and social skills. Based on this, the best person-centered plan is created to match students’ goals for transition into gainful employment and living a more meaningful life. The TigerLIFE program also provides an inclusive college campus experience. TigerLIFE began with eight students and rapidly expanded to its largest enrollment of 106 students. Currently, 61 students are enrolled in either the training component or the job placement component, confirming the need that exists for transition support for individuals with IDD in the Memphis community. Since the conception of both transition programs, UMID has had 86 students to graduate from CCTP and 204 TigerLIFE completers. Based on data from the two programs, CCTP graduates maintain an average 81% successful employment rate one year after completion, while TigerLIFE has maintained an average 72% successful employment rate one year after graduation.

The UMID Director reports to the Chair of the CEPR Department and is supported by a leadership team (Senior Associated Director, Associate Director of Operations, Associate Director of Transition Programs, Instructional and Curriculum Coordinator, Behavioral Unit Director, who coordinates UMID’s staff of master and doctoral level behavioral specialists, undergraduate mentors and buddies, along with volunteers that provide all services that support the three units. Additionally, UMID maintains consultants from the College of Education, an advisory board of on-campus and off-campus affiliates to ensure UMID is meeting its goals and objectives (See Appendix B for UMID Organizational Chart).

Goals/Purpose

The purpose of UMID is to provide quality service, teaching and research to and about persons with disabilities, with an emphasis on persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities, as well as those with other social justice issues, and their families, from a Person-Centered, Systems perspective, especially focused on the needs of the greater Mid-South region.

UMID works to accomplish the following goals:

- Tennessee VR Pre-ETS funding: $200,000
- Due to Covid-19, UMID received approval from TN VR to move its CRP services to a virtual online model and currently is the county’s only CRP that has received this virtual operations approval.
