Purpose

This documentation highlights how to use Rubrics in eCourseware.

Audience

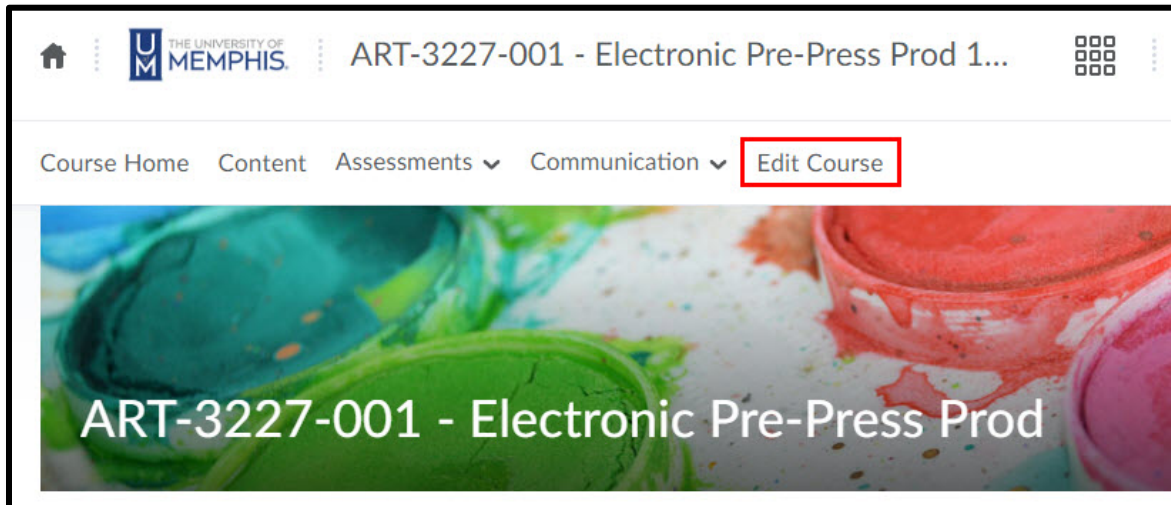

This documentation is intended for University Faculty and Staff.

Creating Rubrics

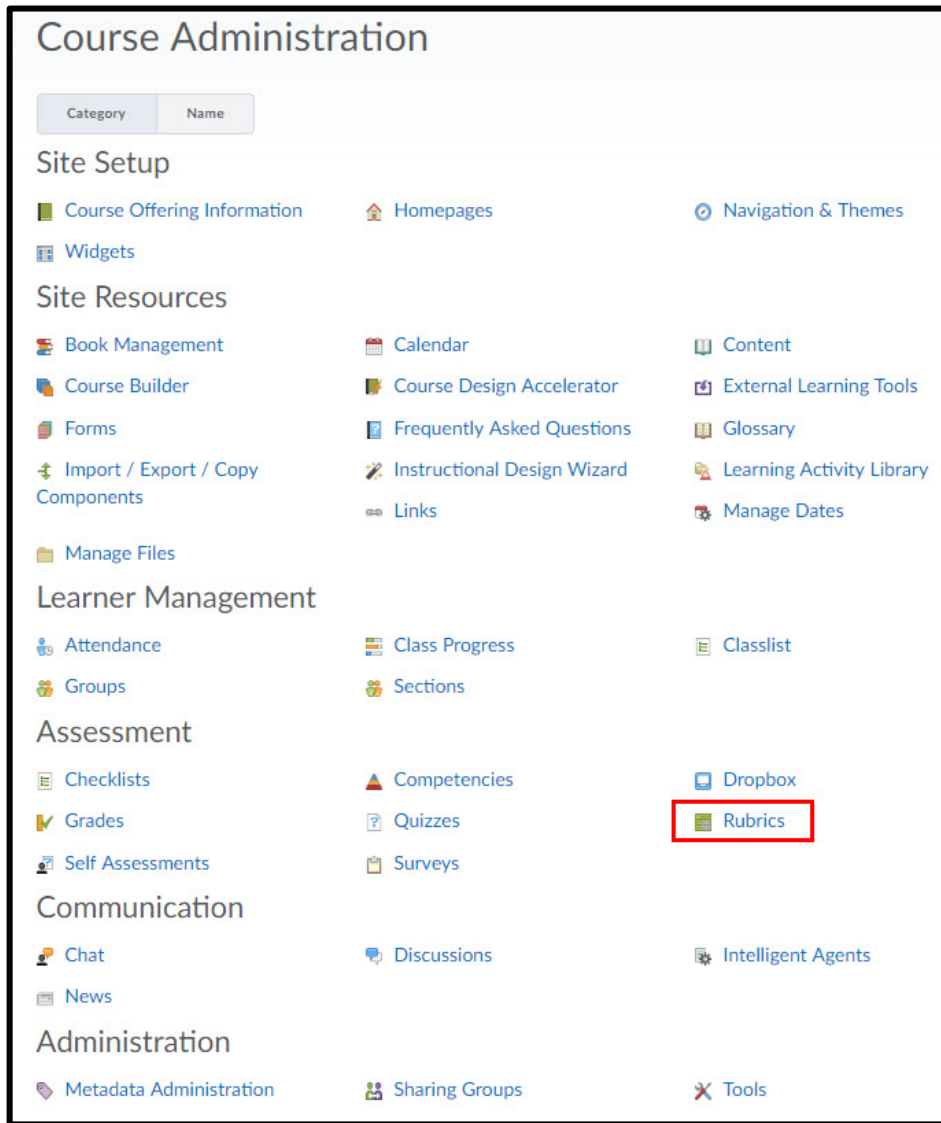

Accessing the Rubrics tool

The following documentation demonstrates how to create a rubric within eCourseware. Rubrics can be used to guide grading and to communicate to students what is expected on an assignment. This tutorial shows how to create a rubric independent of an existing D2L dropbox assignment, quiz, or discussion.

Log into your course and click the Edit Course link on the navigation bar.

Click on Rubrics.

The screenshot displays the 'Course Administration' dashboard. At the top, there are two tabs: 'Category' and 'Name'. The dashboard is organized into several sections:

- Site Setup: Includes Course Offering Information, Homepages, Navigation & Themes, and Widgets.
- Site Resources: Includes Book Management, Calendar, Content, Course Builder, Course Design Accelerator, External Learning Tools, Forms, Frequently Asked Questions, Glossary, Import / Export / Copy Components, Instructional Design Wizard, Learning Activity Library, Links, and Manage Dates.
- Learner Management: Includes Attendance, Class Progress, Classlist, Groups, and Sections.
- Assessment: Includes Checklists, Competencies, Dropbox, Grades, Quizzes, Rubrics (highlighted with a red box), Self Assessments, and Surveys.
- Communication: Includes Chat, Discussions, and Intelligent Agents.
- Administration: Includes Metadata Administration, Sharing Groups, and Tools.

Create a New Rubric

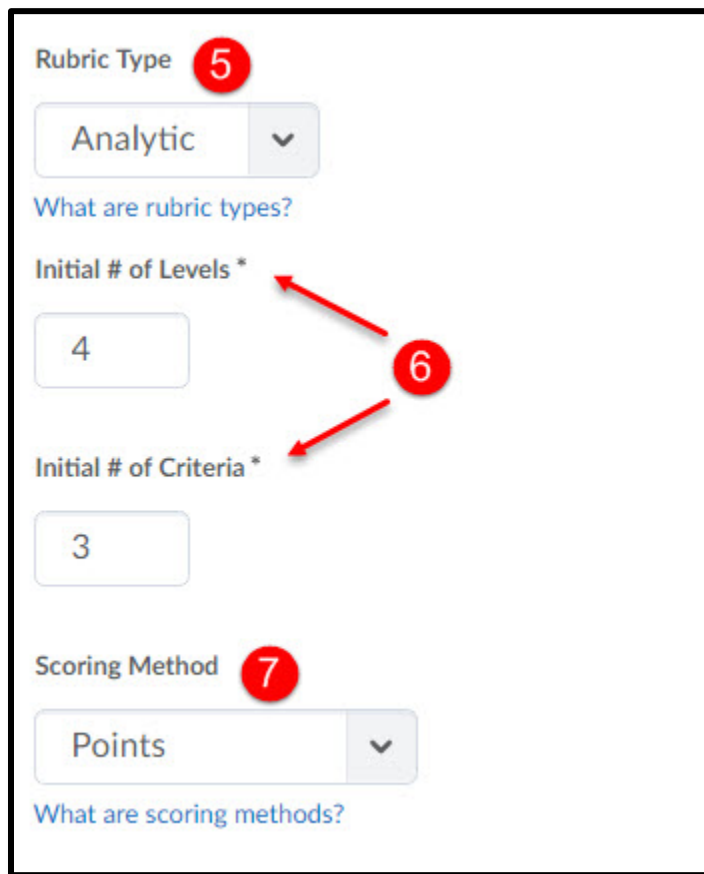

Create a Rubric:

1. On the Rubrics page, click the New Rubric button.
2. Enter a rubric title in the Name field.
3. Select a Rubric Status from the drop-down list.
 - Draft - The initial status of a rubric. Draft rubrics are not yet available for new associations.
 - Published - Associations can be made with published rubrics. Once a rubric has an association, you cannot change the rubric's name, description, levels, and criteria.
 - Archived - Archived rubrics do not appear in default search results and are not available for new associations. Existing associations with archived rubrics remain functional.
4. You have the option to include a description of the rubric in the Description field.

The screenshot shows the 'New Rubric' form with the 'Properties' tab selected. The form is divided into two sections: 'General' and 'Description'. The 'General' section contains a 'Name*' field (marked with a red '2'), a 'Rubric Status' dropdown menu (marked with a red '3') set to 'Draft', and a 'Description' field (marked with a red '4'). The 'Description' field includes a rich text editor with a toolbar containing icons for video, image, link, paragraph, bold, italic, underline, and a menu icon. Below the description field is a row of icons for undo, redo, code, search, and refresh.

5. Choose the type of Rubric that you would like to use, Analytic or Holistic.
6. Choose the Number of Levels and the Number of Criteria you would like to have for your rubric.
7. Select a Scoring Method.

The screenshot shows a form for creating a rubric. It includes the following fields and callouts:

- Rubric Type (5): A dropdown menu with "Analytic" selected.
- Initial # of Levels  (6): A text input field containing the number "4".
- Initial # of Criteria  (6): A text input field containing the number "3".
- Scoring Method (7): A dropdown menu with "Points" selected.

Red arrows point from the callout "6" to both the "Initial # of Levels" and "Initial # of Criteria" fields. A link "What are rubric types?" is located below the "Rubric Type" dropdown, and a link "What are scoring methods?" is located below the "Scoring Method" dropdown.

Understanding Rubric Types

Analytic Rubrics

Most rubrics are analytic. An analytic rubric breaks performance into multiple criteria. You assess each criterion separately, resulting in an overall assessment score.

Holistic Rubrics

Holistic rubrics do not break performance into separate criteria. Performance is assessed holistically, so that you consider several different criteria, but make only one overall assessment.

Understanding Scoring Methods

Text Only

Performance levels are expressed using only text. For example, three performance levels for a rubric could be Poor, Good, and Excellent.

Points

Similar to Text Only, but includes points to assess performance. For example, three performance levels for a rubric could be Poor (0 points), Good (75 points), and Excellent (125 points).

Custom Points

This scoring method can be used only for Analytic type rubrics.

The Custom Points scoring method is similar to the Points scoring method, but you can customize the points given for each criterion (row). For example, if performance levels are "Poor", "Good", and "Excellent", then the criterion "Spelling and Grammar" could be worth 0 points, 10 points, and 20 points for each level, but the criterion "Expression" could be worth 0 points, 30 points, and 60 points, making it worth 3 times the points for "Spelling and Grammar".

Percentages

Percentages can be used only for Holistic type rubrics.

Percentages is similar to Points, but measures performance in percentages instead of points.

A rubric using the "Percentages" can be automatically assessed based on the score of its associated item (such as a grade item).

Levels and Criteria

1. Click on the Levels and Criteria tab.

2. From the Criterion 1 drop-down menu select the Edit Criterion option.
3. Add a name to this criterion in the Criterion Name.

Published Rubrics

To be able to assign the rubric to any assessment it must first be Published. To publish your rubric go back into the Properties tab and select Published from the Status drop-down menu.

The screenshot shows a web interface for editing a rubric. The title is "Edit Rubric - Essay 1 Rubric" with a dropdown arrow. There are two tabs: "Properties" (selected) and "Levels and Criteria". Under the "Properties" tab, the "General" section is visible. It includes a "Name *" field with the text "Essay 1 Rubric". Below that is a "Status" dropdown menu with "Published" selected. A red box highlights the "Published" dropdown. To the right of the dropdown is a link that says "What is a rubric status?".

Note: Once a rubric is published it cannot be edited so be sure everything is correct.
