Announcements

The Classics Club

Fall 2019

SALVETE OMNES!

Join the University of Memphis CLASSICS CLUB, a friendly group of students who love Ancient Greek and Latin Literature and Culture!

In our meetings we will read and comment poems; play games; talk about literature, art, history; sing songs in Latin; develop some projects; and we are always open to new ideas and activities from new students who can join the group at any time!

The meetings will be held on Fridays from 11:30 am to 12:30 pm in FedEx Lounge starting from Friday, Oct. 4, 2019.

FedEx Institute of Technology
University of Memphis
365 Innovation Dr, Memphis, TN 38152
Events

Hispanic Film Festival, September 25-October 9

University of Memphis

2019 Hispanic Film Festival

Sept. 25
Un traductor
A Translator
(Cuba)

Sept. 27
Pájaros de verano
Birds of Passage
(Colombia)

Sept. 30
Todos lo saben
Everybody Knows
(Spain)

Oct. 1
Niñas araña
Spider Thieves
(Chile)

Oct. 9
El regreso
The Return
(Costa Rica)

6:30 PM.
UC Theater
Free admission

With the support of
PRAGDA
Secretary of State for Culture of Spain
Student Event Allocation (SEA)
Spanish Club – University of Memphis
Department of World Languages and Literatures
Faculty Accomplishments

Dr. Ralph Albanese’s article, "La Réception critique des Pensées de Pascal pendant l’entre-deux-guerres : les cas d’Henri Bremond et de Jacques Maritain," has been accepted for publication in the Australian Journal of French Studies.

Dr. Cosetta Gaudenzi presented "Reality and Fiction in Ammore e malavita by Manetti Brothers" at the Conferenza Lingua e linguaggi del reale, University of Bergen, Norway, August 21-22, 2019.
Dr. Ivan Ortega-Santos' paper "On the use of uno in Colombian Spanish: the role of transitivity," co-authored with Marcela Hurtado, has appeared in Studies in Hispanic and Lusophone Linguistics 12 (2019), 35-64.